Australia Bruno David, Paul Taçon, Jean-Jacques Delannoy, Jean-Michel Geneste, 2017-11-30 Western Arnhem Land in the Top End of Australia's Northern Territory has a rich archaeological landscape ethnographic record and body of rock art that displays an astonishing array of imagery on shelter walls and ceilings. While the archaeology goes back to the earliest period of Aboriginal occupation of the continent, the rock art represents some of the richest, most diverse and visually most impressive regional assemblages anywhere in the world. To better understand this multi-dimensional cultural record, The Archaeology of Rock Art in Western Arnhem Land, Australia focuses on the nature and antiquity of the region's rock art as revealed by archaeological surveys and excavations and the application of novel analytical methods. This volume also presents new findings by which to rethink how Aboriginal peoples have socially engaged in and with places across western Arnhem Land from the north to the south, from the plains to the spectacular rocky landscapes of the plateau. The dynamic nature of Arnhem Land rock art is explored and articulated in innovative ways that shed new light on the region's deep-time Aboriginal history.

Understanding Myths and Legends Karen Moncrieffe, 2015-12-03 Understanding Myths and Legends contains 27 stories from different countries around the World ranging from Perseus and Medusa from Ancient Greece to an Indian legend on how the Peacock got his glorious feathers. These exciting stories are full of fearsome monsters, brave heroes and magical happenings and will appeal to both girls and boys. Understanding Myths and Legends is a flexible resource that can be used to support topic work in history and RE or used as part of a unit of work in literacy. The stories and activities are ideal for use in guided reading sessions. To enable teachers to make the most of each story, they are accompanied by background information to enable teachers to place the story confidently in context, differentiated reading tasks using a variety of question styles to help improve children's reading and comprehension skills, speaking and listening activities to deepen children's insight into the stories and encourage engagement, cross-curricular follow-up ideas enabling you to extend the story further. Myths and legends are not only excellent stories; they also help children to gain a true understanding of life in ancient times and improve their understanding of other people, cultures and places, making them an essential part of the primary curriculum.

Art + Climate = Change Guy Abrahams, Kelly Gellatly, Bronwyn Johnson, 2016-06-27 In a period of profound environmental and social upheaval, climate change has become one of our greatest challenges. Yet for many of us, fear, confusion and frustration mean we are reluctant to consider, let alone act on, this pressing issue. Rational engagement with science is vital to forming solutions to this challenge. But a cultural shift is also needed. Artists have the capacity to develop a narrative that recognises the reality of our present and inspires a vibrant, positive vision of our future. Presenting the work of Australian and international artists across twenty-nine exhibitions and events, ART CLIMATE CHANGE explores the power of art to create the empathy, emotional engagement and cultural understanding needed to motivate meaningful change.

The Invention of God in Indigenous Societies James Cox, 2014-09-19 Indigenous societies around the world have been historically disparaged by European explorers, colonial officials and Christian missionaries. Nowhere was this more evident than in early descriptions of indigenous religions as savage primitive superstitious and fetishistic Liberal intellectuals both indigenous and colonial reacted to this by claiming that before indigenous peoples ever encountered Europeans they all believed in a Supreme Being The Invention of God in Indigenous Societies argues that by alleging that God can be located at the core of pre Christian cultures this claim effectively invents a tradition which only makes sense theologically if God has never left himself without a witness Examining a range of indigenous religions from North America Africa and Australasia the Shona of Zimbabwe the Rainbow Spirit Theology in Australia the Yupiit of Alaska and the M ori of New Zealand the book argues that the interests of indigenous societies are best served by carefully describing their religious beliefs and practices using historical and phenomenological methods just as would be done in the study of any world religion

Decolonising and Indigenising Design Desiree Hernandez Ibinarriaga, 2025-03-03 This book offers a new approach to design theory and practice that draws on Indigenous knowledges methodologies and methods presenting concepts of decolonising and Indigenous design that are interweaved as theory storytelling and practices The arena of design sustainability social design and innovation has been a site of debate since the 1960s Yet the ways in which design has redefined this complex realm has not directly addressed Indigenous ways of being knowing and doing which could be of paramount importance to the transformation of the design field and beyond in creative practices In response this book offers valuable insights into how design practitioners can incorporate Indigenous practices to decolonise education research and design and dismantle colonised paradigms ways of thinking and practice in design This approach is presented through storytelling theory methodology methods and practical examples to enlighten the reader The book proposes a transformation in the role designers play through understanding relationality between people land and the immaterial while giving voice and agency to the land and waters Our Mother Earth Design is considered as a way to harness opportunities through the deep connection between people and Place and the book critically promotes a more contextual and dynamic understanding of decolonising and Indigenising design practices and spaces through relational design This book will be useful for students and scholars studying in the fields of design art architecture culture decolonising methodologies biocultural diversity and design beyond human and materiality

Ecologies of Bronze Age Rock Art Fredrik Fahlander, 2024-07-15 A consideration of the rock art of the Mälaren bay region exploring the potential efficacy of petroglyphs as physical devices through organization design and articulation The Bronze Age 1700-500 BCE petroglyphs of southern Scandinavia comprise a unique tradition of rock art in northern Eurasia Despite a limited repertoire of motifs such as cupmarks boats anthropomorphs zoomorphs podomorphs and circles it shows great variability in design elaboration and articulation This book is a study of the Mälaren region in southern central Sweden that includes one of the most prominent rock art clusters of southwest Uppland as well as the hinterland of Södermanland county The rock art in this region is studied on three scales regional local and particular This allows for comparisons between dense and small sites an exploration of how the Bronze Age rock art tradition developed over time in the area and equally how the design and articulation of certain motifs relate to contemporary settlements waterways and varying environmental settings Patterns and structures in the distribution and articulation of the petroglyphs show that the different motifs are not only visual expressions but very much material enactments The motifs often physically relate to each other the flows of water and the microtopography and mineral contents of the rocks The study is therefore not as much about rock art as images and symbols as it is about the ecology of rock art the web of social and physical relations in which it was enacted and employed From this perspective the petroglyphs are seen as petrofacts that is something akin to tools or devices articulated in various ways to affect humans other than humans and the animacies of the coastal milieus where they were made

The Archaeology of Rock-Art Christopher Chippindale, Paul S. C. Taçon, 1998 Pictures painted and carved in caves and on open rock surfaces are amongst our loveliest relics from prehistory This pioneering set of sparkling essays goes beyond guesses as to what the pictures mean instead exploring how we can reliably learn from rock art as a material record of distant times in short rock art as archaeology Sometimes contact period records offer some direct insight about indigenous meaning so we can learn in that informed way More often we have no direct record and instead have to use formal methods to learn from the evidence of the pictures themselves The book's eighteen papers range wide in space and time from the Palaeolithic of Europe to nineteenth century Australia Using varied approaches within the consistent framework of informed and proven methods they make key advances in using the striking and reticent evidence of rock art to archaeological benefit
