dexterously between the grassroots and policy halls and draws valuable lessons for theory and practice Dr Kami Pothukuchi Department of Urban Studies Planning Wayne State University To address the problems of urban food production we need to look at the city in a completely different way This timely book will act as an important source for those who have an ethical interest not only in food but in improving the quality and justice of life in our city communities Prof Flora Samuel School of Architecture University of Sheffield and member of Royal Institute of British Architects Research and Development Committee This publication provides a lot of food for thought not just for persons professionally involved in the food sector and officials dealing with national food policies but especially for local and regional authorities urban planners and architects NGOs and community based organisations health and environmental officers and concerned consumers Against the background of the growing awareness of the elevated social health and ecological costs of the mainstream globalized agri food system this book analyses the emergence of a new vision and many initiatives that seek to reconnect sustainable production with sustainable consumption Hence the book delivers what is promised in its title it discusses new concepts related to food and sustainable urban regional planning based on a critical review of innovative practices at various levels Ir Henk de Zeeuw Director RUAF Foundation For those who work to address the future challenges facing city development this book is a must Why Because today practitioners and professionals are being asked to understand urban food production within a social economic and ecological context This book shows us how these connections are being made The chapters are accessible and fascinating and will help beginners and experts to deal with food production in their everyday work Dr Carlo
