Changing Pedagogy Xin-min Zheng, Chris Davison, 2008-02-20 China's growing economic military and political stability have for the first time started to gain international recognition As China increasingly opens up to the world its unique role in the context of economic globalization is becoming more pronounced which is exemplified by its recent membership of the WTO and Beijing's successful bid to host the Olympic Games Unsurprisingly this has resulted in an explosion in the popularity of English language learning in China which has in turn led to radical reform of the curricula teaching methods teacher education and assessment system in China in order to improve standards This fascinating monograph explores the nature of the implemented English language curriculum in China focussing in particular on the pedagogy of secondary school teachers There follows an insightful analysis into how such teachers in different situations and with different backgrounds and motivations make decisions about what and how they teach and the extent to which they adapt the promoted methods in their individual teaching environments The authors then use their findings to propose an innovative and coherent framework which has far reaching consequences for pedagogy in China and across the world New Headway English Course Liz Soars, John Soars, Amanda Maris, 2009 Headway: Elementary. Teacher's Guide with Teacher's Resource Center, 2019-01-17 New Headway Liz Soars, 2006 The Training of Elementary Teachers in Germany Thomas Alexander, 1929 The CEFR in Practice Brian North, 2014-07-10 This volume gives an overview of the impact of the CEFR on teaching and assessment as well as the extensive debate surrounding the framework Social Interaction and English Language Teacher Identity Tom Morton, 2018-05-15 Analyses how different English language teacher identities and power relationships are oriented to and made relevant in social interaction This textbook uses analysis of interaction in a range of teacher education and professional practice settings in ELT to explore the different identities and power relationships which teachers orient to. It traces the role of identity and interaction in the processes of acquiring new teaching skills and knowledge reflecting on professional practice and constructing teaching selves and explores the limits and constraints on these processes imposed by global forces such as the marketization of education. The book is written for teachers, teacher educators, postgraduate students and researchers interested in the relationships between social interaction, identity and professional practice in ELT. It is suitable for use in conjunction with any postgraduate level course on language in interaction as it surveys and critically discusses various approaches and includes many practical examples. Key features: Includes a full survey of different approaches to the study of language teacher learning and identity; Provides an introduction to a range of frameworks for analyzing talk and identity in teacher education and professional practice contexts; Analyses spoken data from activities such as guided lesson planning, post-teaching reflection, discussions of teaching materials; Each chapter ends with practice tasks, discussion points and references for further reading. Suitable for use in conjunction with any postgraduate level course on language in interaction as it surveys and critically discusses various approaches and includes many practical examples.
