The Schenley Experiment Jake Oresick,2017-04-14 The

Schenley Experiment is the story of Pittsburgh's first public high school a social incubator in a largely segregated city that was highly even improbably successful throughout its 156 year existence Established in 1855 as Central High School and reorganized in 1916 Schenley High School was a model of innovative public education and an ongoing experiment in diversity Its graduates include Andy Warhol actor Bill Nunn and jazz virtuoso Earl Hines and its prestigious academic program and pensions lured such teachers as future Pulitzer Prize winner Willa Cather The subject of investment as well as destructive neglect the school reflects the history of the city of Pittsburgh and provides a study in both the best and worst of urban public education practices there and across the Rust Belt Integrated decades before Brown v Board of Education Schenley succumbed to default segregation during the white flight of the 1970s it rose again to prominence in the late 1980s when parents camped out in six day long lines to enroll their children in visionary superintendent Richard C Wallace's reinvigorated school Although the historic triangular building was a cornerstone of its North Oakland neighborhood and a showpiece for the city of Pittsburgh officials closed the school in 2008 citing over 50 million in necessary renovations a controversial event that captured national attention Schenley alumnus Jake Oresick tells this story through interviews historical documents and hundreds of first person accounts drawn from a community indelibly tied to the school A memorable important work of local and educational history his book is a case study of desegregation magnet education and the changing nature and legacies of America's oldest public schools

Restoring Opportunity Greg J. Duncan, Richard J. Murnane, 2014-01-01 In this landmark volume Greg J Duncan and Richard J Murnane lay out a meticulously researched case showing how in a time of spiraling inequality strategically targeted interventions and supports can help schools significantly improve the life chances of low income children The authors offer a brilliant synthesis of recent research on inequality and its effects on families children and schools They describe the interplay of social and economic factors that has made it increasingly hard for schools to counteract the effects of inequality and that has created a widening wedge between low and high income students Restoring Opportunity provides detailed portraits of proven initiatives that are transforming the lives of low income children from prekindergarten through high school All of these programs are research tested and have demonstrated sustained effectiveness over time and at significant scale Together they offer a powerful vision of what good instruction in effective schools can look like The authors conclude by outlining the elements of a new agenda for education reform Restoring Opportunity is a crowning contribution from these two leading economists in the field of education and a passionate call to action on behalf of the young people on whom our nation s future depends Copublished with the Russell Sage Foundation

A Fight for the Soul of Public Education
Steven Ashby,Robert Bruno,2016-11-04 In reaction to the changes imposed on public schools across the country in the name of education reform the Chicago Teachers Union redefined its traditional role and waged a multidimensional fight that produced a community wide school strike and transformed the scope of collective bargaining into arenas that few labor relations experts thought possible Using interviews first person accounts participant observation union documents and media reports Steven K Ashby and Robert Bruno tell the story of the 2012 strike that shut down the Chicago school system for seven days A Fight for the Soul of Public Education takes into account two overlapping parallel and equally important stories One is a grassroots story of worker activism told from the perspective of rank and file union members and their community supporters Ashby and Bruno provide a detailed account of how the strike became an international cause when other teachers unions had largely surrendered to corporate driven education reform The second story describes the role of state and national politics in imposing educational governance changes on public schools and draconian limitations on union bargaining rights It includes a detailed account of the actual bargaining process revealing the mundane and the transcendental strategies of both school board and union representatives

World Development Report 2018 World Bank Group, 2017-10-16

Every year the World Bank s World Development Report WDR features a topic of central importance to global development The 2018 WDR LEARNING to Realize Education s Promise is the first ever devoted entirely to education And the time is right education has long been critical to human welfare but it is even more so in a time of rapid economic and social change The best way to equip children and youth for the future is to make their learning the center of all efforts to promote education The 2018 WDR explores four main themes First education s promise education is a powerful instrument for eradicating poverty and promoting shared prosperity but fulfilling its potential requires better policies both within and outside the education system Second the need to shine a light on learning despite gains in access to education recent learning assessments reveal that many young people around the world especially those who are poor or marginalized are leaving school unequipped with even the foundational skills they need for life At the same time internationally comparable learning assessments show that skills in many middle income countries lag far behind what those countries aspire to And too often these shortcomings are hidden so as a first step to tackling this learning crisis it is essential to shine a light on it by assessing student learning better Third how to make schools work for all learners research on areas such as brain science pedagogical innovations and school management has identified interventions that promote learning by ensuring that learners are prepared teachers are both skilled and motivated and other inputs support the teacher learner relationship Fourth how to make systems work for learning achieving learning throughout an education system requires more than just scaling up effective interventions

Countries must also overcome technical and political barriers by deploying salient metrics for mobilizing actors and tracking progress building coalitions for learning and taking an adaptive approach to reform

Ahmed,Bennett Foddy,2015-12-07 For much of the 20th century theories of addictive behaviour and motivation were polarized between two models The first model viewed addiction as a moral failure for which addicts are rightly held responsible and judged accordingly The second model in contrast viewed addiction as a specific brain disease caused by neurobiological adaptations occurring in response to chronic drug or alcohol use and over which addicts have no choice or control As our capacity to observe neurobiological phenomena improved the second model became scientific orthodoxy increasingly dominating addiction research and informing public understandings of addiction More recently however a dissenting view has emerged within addiction research based partly on new scientific research and partly on progress in philosophical and psychological understandings of relevant mental phenomena This view does not revert to treating addiction as a moral failure but nonetheless holds that addictive behaviour is fundamentally motivated by choice and subject to at least a degree of voluntary control On this alternative model of addiction addictive behaviour is an instrumental means to ends

that are desired by the individual although much controversy exists with respect to the rationality or irrationality of these ends the degree and nature of the voluntary control of addictive behaviour and motivation the explanation of the difference between addictive and non addictive behaviour and motivation and lastly the extent to which addictive behaviour and motivation is correctly characterised as pathological or diseased This research topic includes papers in the traditions of neuroscience psychology philosophy law and social science that explore alternative understandings of addiction
