

DEATH PENALTY

The death penalty is a government-sanctioned punishment by death. Death penalty in the Philippines is stated on the Republic Act No. 7659 which is an act to impose the death penalty for 1 the Pre-Spanish time where Filipinos although infrequent, is already practicing it. The Spanish also imposed it on locals who rebelled against them and it was retained during the American period. Of course, who would forget the 1965-1986 Martial LAW? Even though it was abolished during Cory Aquino's term, it was re-imposed when Ramos stepped into the presidency. It was also present in Estrada and Arroyo's term.

Today, Death Penalty has been again, active in discussions around the country where Filipinos argue whether it is practical, beneficial, and necessary if re-established. In tackling about this topic, we must ask ourselves this question, "how can it be justifiable if we don't know if WE HAVE established our justice system out of a desire for rehabilitation or out of a desire for retribution?" Looking at the Philippine context, due to various reasons and particular situations, we view death penalty, as impractical, not beneficial, and unnecessary.

Practicability death penalty is impractical in the Philippines because our state has a flawed judicial system, it opposes to the culture of the majority and it is simply not compatible with our unfortunate kind of economy thus it is not a proven deterrence to crime.

The death penalty is not practical in the Philippines because we have a flawed judicial system. According to an essay about the practicality of death penalty by Valderrama, it was stated there that, "For the death penalty to be practical and efficient, a fair criminal justice system is essential. However, The criminal justice system in our country is full of defects such as faulty police work, coerced confessions, inept defence counsel, perjured testimony and trial court decisions based on seemingly inconclusive evidence. In addition, the Supreme Court, in a 2004 decision, made 72% judicial errors. How can death penalty be a practical one when the judiciary of the country is inefficient and full of incompetence?" "We have to address the long pestering issue of impunity. Poor law enforcement results in breakdown of law and order."

The death penalty is not practical in the Philippines because it opposes to the culture of the majority of the Filipinos. For we believe in the value of life. In a sense, people want death penalty because we don't want killings to happen yet we impose killing for killing. We may say that death penalty should only be for heinous crimes but at the end of the day, yes, we know which crime requires severe punishment but do we know enough to decide which life to take and when we take it?

In connection to that, it is simply not compatible with our economy because according to the PSA, poverty incidence among Filipinos is rising to 25.8% in the first half of 2014, from 24.6% in 2013. By this and by how we see our country, we can really say that poverty is everywhere. The death penalty is very impractical for the Philippines for people would, again and again, do anything by any means necessary just to feed their families even though that would mean dirty works and punishment. Emotions overpower judgment in times of desperation. "In a 2004 survey, of 1,121 death row inmates in the
