QST., 1928 Encyclopedia of Practical Receipts and Processes William Brisbane Dick, 1884

Soft Matter Physics Maurice Kleman, Oleg D. Lavrentovich, 2007-05-28

Introductions to solid state physics have ever since the initial book by F Seitz in 1940 concentrated on simple crystals with few atoms per cell bonded together by strong ionic covalent or metallic bonds

References to weaker bonds such as van der Waals forces in rare gases or to geometric or chemical disorder e.g. alloys or glasses have been limited

The physical understanding of this field started well before Seitz's book and led to a number of Nobel prizes after the last war

Applications cover classical metallurgy electronics geology and building materials as well as electrical and ionic transport chemical reactivity ferroelectricity and magnetism

But in parallel with this general and well publicized trend and sometimes earlier as far as physical concepts were concerned an exploration and increasingly systematic study of softer matter has developed through the twentieth century

More often in the hands of physical chemists and crystallographers than those of pure physicists the field had for a long time a reputation of complexity

If progress in polymers was steady but slow interest in liquid crystals had lain dormant for forty years after a bright start lasting through 1925 to be revived in the late 1960s based on their possible use in imaging techniques

The optoelectronic properties of the field in general are even more recent

Clothing Sacred Scriptures David Ganz, Barbara Schellewald, 2018-12-03

According to a longstanding interpretation book religions are agents of textuality and logocentrism

This volume inverts the traditional perspective its focus is on the strong dependency between scripture and aesthetics holy books and material artworks sacred texts and ritual performances

The contributions written by a group of international specialists in Western Byzantine Islamic and Jewish Art are committed to a comparative and transcultural approach

The authors reflect upon the different strategies of clothing sacred texts with precious materials and elaborate forms

They show how the pretypographic cultures of the Middle Ages used book ornaments as media for building a close relation between the divine words and their human audience

By exploring how art shapes the religious practice of books and how the religious use of books shapes the evolution of artistic practices this book contributes to a new understanding of the deep nexus between sacred scripture and art

Publishing from the South Sarah Nuttall, Isabel Hofmeyr, 2024-11 In 2022 Wits University Press marked its centenary making it the oldest most established university press in sub Saharan Africa While in part modelled on scholarly publishers from the global North it has had to contend with the constraints of working under global South conditions marginalisation within the university budgetary limitations small local markets unequal access to international sales channels and the privileging of English language publishing over indigenous languages This volume explores what the Press has achieved and what its modes of reinvention might look like In widening and deepening our understanding of the Press as an example of a global South scholarly publisher this volume asks how publishing can contribute to a broader understanding of Southern knowledge production Featuring contributions from scholars publishers and authors this multi voiced volume showcases the history of the Press s publishing activities over 100 years from documenting its evolution through book covers and giving credence to some of the leading black intellectuals and writers of the early 20th century and the success of those works in spite of their authors racial marginalisation to the role of women both in publishing and in the spaces afforded to women s writing on the Press s list The collection concludes with essays by contemporary authors who detail not only their experiences of working with Southern publishers but also the politics and influences governing their decisions to choose the Press over a Northern publisher Publishing from the South shows the strategies deployed by the Press to professionalise Southern knowledge making and in the process demonstrating how university presses in the global South support the scholarly missions of their universities for both local and global audiences
