

MEDIA REPORTING OF TERRORISM: A CASE STUDY OF ISLAMIC STATE OF IRAQ AND SYRIA (ISIS)

Lubna Sunawar*

Abstract

Terrorist organizations have long realized the invaluable benefits of various media platforms, particularly social media, in achieving their tactical, operational and strategic goals. They have figured out how to make an impact through social media. Researchers have found that media plays a significant role in disseminating messages supporting terrorism. Since the September 11, 2001 attacks, terrorism has attracted much media attention. ISIS, in particular, has produced the most technologically sophisticated propaganda compared to other terrorist groups. Since terrorism has received so much media attention, it is vital to understand how it is presented in international news. This study, therefore, examines terrorists' use of media while focusing on ISIS as a case study. Research findings suggest that employing media as a weapon in combat is vital to ISIS's strategy to establish a hypothetical Islamic caliphate. ISIS uses media for three central goals: promoting its propaganda, recruiting new fighters, and inciting violence. The article employs framing theory, a study of comparative journalism and global media coverage of terrorism. This paper also explores the idea that media coverage may very well encourage acts of terrorism.

Keywords: Terrorism, Media, ISIS, Propaganda, Framing Theory.

Introduction

The connection between terrorism and media has long been regarded as one of the most crucial areas of research on terrorism.¹ It is often believed to be symbiotic with terrorists delivering violent, thrilling stories that help sell news products. Media, directly or indirectly, provide a platform for terrorists to spread their message and instil fear in public, thus influencing how terrorists' messages are circulated. The relationship between terrorism and media refers to the 'theatre of terror,' which describes how terrorist organisations use media in a dramatic, theatrical manner to portray terror incidents for publicity.² This mutually beneficial relationship has been well-documented recently, most notably within the last two decades.³ Numerous terrorist incidents throughout history have shown that terrorists use media for operational effectiveness, recruitment, fundraising, and propaganda schemes worldwide.⁴ Terrorists employ media for attention, recognition, and perhaps even some legitimacy for their acts.⁵ In return, media receive massive audiences, record sales, and public engagement, which are essential for their business sustainability. To put it another way, for terrorism

Rudolph,2017-11-17 As jihadist extremism and its manifestation as Al Qaeda began to spread even in the years before 9 11 Saudi Arabia became a principal target Jihadists identified the country as the first state against which they could mount a concerted effort to destabilise undermine and subvert the authority of its central government and its ruling elites This prompted the Saudis to take defensive initiatives which were to become widely recognised as an effective way to deal with extremism The key element of the Saudi approach was to lace their hard confrontation of the extremists with subtle soft mechanisms to undermine the will of actual and potential terrorists The efforts ranged from interdiction of funding terrorist groups to the deployment of social and psychological pressures aimed at steering extremists away from their cause This included welfare inducements whereby perpetrators were persuaded by material benefits state support to families and individuals housing allowances educational opportunities to abandon their political goals in favour of a return to family and society This book charts the course of the Saudi terrorist rehabilitation programme and makes vital reading for all who either directly or indirectly have an interest in following the emergence of international terrorism Evidence-Based Counterterrorism Policy Cynthia Lum,Leslie W. Kennedy,2011-11-06 In the past eight years there has been a massive increase in government spending on counterterrorism intervention development and implementation Given this increase there are two evidence based policy questions that are important to address Is there evidence that any of these programs are effective in other words can they be shown to be linked to reducing terrorism terrorist recruiting or to improving the response and management of terrorist events Do these interventions have secondary or collateral effects that may be costly harmful illegal beneficial or otherwise As Lum and Kennedy discovered in an evaluation research on counterterrorism interventions only a minuscule number of empirical studies of terrorism exist and there is an almost complete absence of evaluation research on counter terrorism strategies This is startling given the enormous increases in the development and use of counter terrorism programs as well as spending on counter terrorism activity Even more disconcerting was the nature of the evaluations we did find some programs were shown to either have no discernible effect on terrorism or lead to increases in terrorism The emphasis of the need for empirical research in evaluating interventions and informing policy cannot be overstated and is the primary goal of Evidence
