Third World Education Anthony R. Welch,2002-05-03 This book debunks the argument that quality in education can only be achieved by limiting or trading off equality The quality of schooling is a major issue for Third World nations across the globe However there is no single measure which is universally accepted Whether it is as some economists might argue an issue of the number of desks per classroom or one of national sovereignty is widely disputed Defining equality in education becomes increasingly difficult in an era of globalization in which there exists a wide gap between rich and poor both within and between nations In the context of an international move towards New Right politics and neo liberal economic ideologies both the quality and equality of education are imperiled This book argues that any worthy definition of quality education must include the interests and participation of the underprivileged

Questionnaires for a National Assessment of Educational Achievement Prue Anderson, George Morgan, 2008-01-01
Developing Tests and Questionnaires for a National Assessment of Educational Achievement is the second in the National Assessments of Educational Achievement series. It is designed to help build capacity in carrying out technically adequate assessments of national levels of student achievement. It introduces readers to the activities involved in the development of achievement tests and includes developing an assessment framework, writing multiple choice and constructed response type items, pretesting, producing test booklets, and handscoring items. A section on questionnaire construction features Education and Social Stratification in Papua, New Guinea. Mark Bray, Peter D. Smith, 1985. In the developed world, the links between education and social stratification have been a focus of study for the past thirty years. In less developed countries, the emphasis has been on the link between education and economic growth. This book is a collection of original and perceptive papers which examine the relationships between the developing formal education system and geographical, social, and sexual inequalities in one Third World Country, Papua New Guinea. The book examines both in-school and out-of-school factors and focuses attention on a crucial but neglected area of development. Bulletin of the Unesco Regional Office for Education in Asia and the Pacific, 1986. The Environment and Science and Technology Education. A. V. Baez, G. W. Knamiller, J. C. Smyth, 2013-10-22. The Environment and Science and Technology Education covers topics on key issues in environmental education, school-based primary and secondary education, and community-based environmental education. The book also discusses topics on tertiary professional and vocational environmental education and non-formal public environmental education.
