From Scrolls to Scrolling Bradford A. Anderson, 2020-06-22 Throughout history the study of sacred texts has focused almost exclusively on the content and meaning of these writings. Such a focus obscures the fact that sacred texts are always embodied in particular material forms from ancient scrolls to contemporary electronic devices. Using the digital turn as a starting point, this volume highlights material dimensions of the sacred texts of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. The essays in this collection investigate how material aspects have shaped the production and use of these texts within and between the traditions of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam from antiquity to the present day. Contributors also reflect on the implications of transitions between varied material forms and media cultures. Taken together, the essays suggest that materiality is significant for the academic study of sacred texts as well as for reflection on developments within and between these religious traditions. This volume offers insightful analysis on key issues related to the materiality of sacred texts in the traditions of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam while also highlighting the significance of transitions between various material forms including the current shift to digital culture.

Dialectical Materialism Gustav A. Wetter, 2024-11-26 Dialectical Materialism 1958 surveys the history of dialectical materialism from its Hegelian beginnings to the death of Stalin and its sequel in the celebrated XXth Party Congress of the C P S U. It also presents a systematic account of the theory as it was formulated and discussed by the philosophers of the Soviet Union.

International Exhibitions and Urbanism Javier Monclús, 2017-05-15 International Exhibitions and Urbanism provides an insightful and comprehensive historical review of international exhibitions in its first half, which is then illustrated with a thorough technical analysis of the Zaragoza 2008 project in its second half. The first half offers a comparative analysis of nearly 50 events which have taken place over the past 150 years as well as exploring the relationships with urbanism from a planning perspective. Underpinned by the first-hand information that the author has as one of the event's organizers, the second half is devoted to the Zaragoza project for the 2008 Exposition. After giving contextual historical and demographic information, the Expo's master plan and building projects are then described.

Greek Tragic Style R. B. Rutherford, 2012-05-10 An exploration of the poetic qualities of the Greek tragic dramatists Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides, highlighting their similarities and differences.

Schrodinger's Mechanics: Interpretation David B. Cook, 2018-04-09 The interpretation of quantum mechanics has been in dispute for nearly a century with no sign of a resolution. Using a careful examination of the relationship between the final form of classical particle mechanics, the Hamilton-Jacobi Equation, and Schrödinger's mechanics, this book presents a coherent way of addressing the problems and paradoxes that emerge through conventional interpretations. Schrödinger's Mechanics critiques the popular way of giving physical interpretation to the various terms in perturbation theory and other technologies and places an emphasis on development of the theory and not on an axiomatic approach. When this interpretation is made, the extension of Schrödinger's mechanics in relation to other areas including spin, relativity, and fields is investigated, and new
