for the guidance of teachers

9716/01

9716 FRENCH

Paper 1 (Speaking), maximum raw mark 100

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes must be read in conjunction with the question papers and the report on the examination.

- CIE will not enter into discussions or correspondence in connection with these mark schemes.

CIE is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2009 question papers for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level syllabuses and some Ordinary Level syllabuses.

Measured Constructs Cyril J. Weir, Ivana Vidaković, Evelina D. Galaczi, 2013-05-23 This volume establishes how English language constructs were measured in Cambridge English examinations over the period 1913 to 2012. An addition to the Studies in Language Testing series, this volume provides an overview of English language testing over the last century with coverage of key theoretical and practical aspects of the assessment of reading, listening, writing and speaking skills. It includes examples of the Cambridge English exams old and new and is the first volume to describe in a systematic way the different theoretical influences which have shaped the development of the constructs underlying Cambridge English exams in the last 100 years.

Education, Equity and Transformation Crain Soudien, Peter Kallaway, 2012-12-06 The papers for this special issue were selected from a pool of nearly 700 presentations which were made at the 10th Congress of the World Council of Comparative Education Societies (WCCES) which was held in Cape Town, South Africa, from 12 to 17 July 1998. The congress was hosted by the Southern African Comparative and History of Education Society (SACHES) and held on the campuses of the University of the Western Cape and the University of Cape Town. The papers were selected by the convenors of the conference's standing commissions which provided a significant focus for the conference proceedings. These commissions were on the following themes: Teachers and teacher education; Curriculum; Higher education; Lifelong learning; Language literacy and basic education; Gender and education; Policy; Theory and theory shifts; Basic education in Africa; Peace and Justice; Dependency; European Education; Policy Research in Africa; Culture; Indigenous Knowledge and Learning. The papers presented as the discussion below makes clear ranged widely in subject matter and theoretical perspective and addressed issues of concern both to individual countries and to regions of the world. While some of the papers use comparison as an approach, it remains a matter of concern that the comparative perspective is so little in evidence. It is hoped that the comparative research approach will be more in evidence in the future.

A History of the Peninsula War II Charles Oman, 2017-06-15 Napoleon on quitting Spain in January left behind him as a legacy to his brother a comprehensive plan for the conquest of the whole Peninsula But that plan was from the first impracticable and when it had miscarried the fighting in every region of the theatre of war became local and isolated Neither the harassed and distracted French King at Madrid nor the impotent Spanish Junta at Seville knew how to combine and co ordinate the operations of their various armies into a single logical scheme Ere long six or seven campaigns were taking place simultaneously in different corners of the Peninsula each of which was practically independent of the others Every French and Spanish general fought for his own hand with little care for what his colleagues were doing their only unanimity was that all alike kept urging on their central governments the plea that their own particular section of the war was more critical and important than any other International Handbook of English Language Teaching Jim Cummins, Chris Davison, 2007-12-31 This two-volume handbook provides a comprehensive examination of policy, practice, research and theory related to English language teaching (ELT) in international contexts. Nearly 70 chapters highlight the research foundation for the best practices, frameworks for policy decisions and areas of consensus and controversy in the teaching and development of English as a second or additional language for kindergarten through to adult speakers of languages other than English. In doing so, it problematizes traditional dichotomies and challenges the very terms that provide the traditional foundations of the field. A wide range of terms has been used to refer to the key players involved in the teaching and learning of the English language and to the enterprise of English language teaching as a whole. At various times and in different contexts, the following labels have been used in countries where English is the dominant language to describe programs, learners or teachers of English: English as a second language (ESL), English as an additional language (EAL), limited English proficient (LEP) and English language learners (ELL). In contexts where English is not the dominant language, the following terms have been used: English as a foreign language (EFL), English as an international language (EIL) and English as a lingua franca (ELF).
