Modeling and Flowsheet Simulation of Vibrated Fluidized Bed Dryers (Band 18) Sören Ernst Lehmann,2021-12-07 Fluidized bed dryers are the prime choice when it comes to drying of heat sensitive products commonly processed in the pharmaceutical and food industry. As many products in these industries are fine and cohesive, mechanical vibration of the dryer is used to enable or improve fluidization. Thus the goal of this thesis is the development of a fluidized bed drying model that accounts for the influence of mechanical vibration of the dryer as well as its implementation in an open source software simulation framework.

Continuously operated fluidized bed dryers under steady state conditions are the focus of this thesis. The aim during model development and implementation is the broadest possible application range of the model. A custom built vibrated fluidized bed dryer is designed and constructed for comprehensive investigations of fluidized bed hydrodynamics and drying kinetics. Based on experimental investigations, a semi empirical model for hydrodynamics of fine and cohesive powders is developed. The new model is combined with established models to allow for the software simulation of fluidized bed dryers for particles of all Geldart groups. Additionally, the influence of vibration is accounted for. Comprehensive validation experiments are performed for particles of different Geldart groups, different dryer geometries and a variety of process parameters including mechanical vibration. Comparison of model predictions with experimental data attributes high accuracy of predicted particle and gas properties. Furthermore, sensitivity analyses are conducted to identify potential weaknesses in underlying model assumptions. Hereby, the validity of underlying assumptions is confirmed and potential optimization parameters for different applications are identified. The proposed model is unprecedented in terms of range of process parameters, variety of particle properties and dryer geometries tested and found valid for.

Education, Translation and Global Market Pressures Wan Hu, 2018-03-07 This book investigates the market driven transformation of the higher education sector and the response given by the translation programmes in the UK and China, two vastly different social and economic contexts. It provides an in depth look at six selected case studies, critically analysing how social, economic and political factors have affected curriculum designs in different translation programmes. This innovative volume contributes to the development of knowledge in an important area of translation studies and opens a new way for providing both cross national and cross disciplinary perspectives in analysing the curricula of translation programmes.

Academic Libraries Anette Janse van Vuren, 2022-06-27 As we begin to fundamentally redefine our world informed through the Fourth Industrial Revolution, 4IR, entire industries are gearing up for this disruptive event. Library practices have been no exception. With the advent of advanced digital technology, knowledge is becoming more readily accessible. This book focuses on how libraries need to respond, adapt and transform to become meaningful spaces in our rapidly changing 21st century, within the 4IR and coupled with the restrictions of the pandemic. Tracing the evolution of technology over the centuries, the changing role of the library as a response to disruptions is discussed.
