Ulm Building Manual Version:

Construction Materials Manual Manfred Hegger, Volker Auch-Schwelk, Matthias Fuchs, Thorsten Rosenkranz, 2013-02-12
Until now the few existing systematic texts on construction materials have primarily been directed at building engineers. An overview for architects which also considers the importance of construction materials in the sensory perception of architecture including tactile qualities, smell, color, and surface structure has not been available. With the publication of the Construction Materials Manual, all that has changed. As a basic work aimed equally at the questions and perspectives of architects and building engineers, it will bring together all of the above mentioned viewpoints. It addresses fundamental questions of sustainability including life span, environmental impact, and material cycles while also presenting material innovations. All of the principal conventional and innovative construction materials are comprehensively documented with attention to their production, manufacture, fabrication, treatment, surfaces, connections, and characteristics. International examples help to illustrate their use in architecture where a building's appearance is often defined by a single material. Thus the Construction Materials Manual will support the daily work of architects and engineers in the choice of construction materials in a comprehensive and at the same time vivid and stimulating manner.

Facade Construction Manual Thomas Herzog, Roland Krippner, Werner Lang, 2012-12-10
Facades are the first feature of a building to be noticed; they determine its distinctive appearance and are often the subject of controversial debate. This new first edition of the Facade Construction Manual provides a systematic survey of contemporary expertise in the application of new materials and energy efficient technologies in facade design and represents an invaluable addition to our series of Construction Manuals. It surveys the facade design requirements made by various types of buildings as well as the most important materials from natural stone through to synthetics and documents a diversity of construction forms for a wide range of building types. Over 100 international case studies in large scale detailed drawings are presented in the comprehensive project section.

Material Stone Christoph Mäckler, 2004
In recent years building with stone has gained new significance not only because of its impressive appearance but also in the debate that has arisen in architecture between the monumental and the transparent. Principally used in facades but also for interior design, natural stone and even man-made stone such as concrete and bricks is now being appreciated for its high quality performance. For international architects such as Michael Graves, Frank O. Gehry, Mario Botta, or Richard Meier, this diverse material plays a major role. This publication examines the use of stone in contemporary architecture drawing also on the work and experience of such great predecessors as Semper or Höpfer. In thematic chapters it presents the state of the art. The emphasis of the book is laid on the many different kinds of natural stone which come from a wide range of countries. Further chapters elucidate innovative applications of concrete and bricks also illustrated by international examples.
