

ECONOMICS GRADE 10 NOTES

FROM CHAPTER 9 husbandry and agriculture

9.1.1 Characteristics of the agricultural stage of economic development

- The San and Khoikhoi groups used basic hunting weapons, such as bows and arrows.
- The Nguni and the Sotho groups used implements to till the soil and weapons for hunting and war. They were also herders of cattle, sheep and goats.
- People produced agricultural goods for themselves, seldom to trade.
- There was a little trade, mostly in the form of bartering.
- There were no well-developed markets.
- Most of the economic activity in South Africa was agriculture and hunting.
- There was a small population on large pieces of land.
- Labour was scarce; slaves were imported as extra labour.
- Capital was scarce.
- Most farmers produced almost everything they needed themselves.

9.1.2 Factors promoting economic development in agriculture

- The Dutch could barter with the Khoi and the San for land.
- Plentiful game made hunting easy.
- A small market developed for selling food products to the passing ships.
- The colonial powers protected the markets. For example, Britain taxed imports of French wines to promote sales of wines from the Cape to people in Britain.
- In the Cape, local taxes on imports promoted local production of food. For example, a tax on wheat imports in the 1820s encouraged farmers to grow wheat.
- Improved transport and infrastructure

9.1.3 Factors hampering economic development in agriculture

- Lack of capital.
- Labour was scarce.
- There were few or no schools and other educational institutions; most people had little or no education.
- Most areas had little or no infrastructure.
- The colonial powers often had monopolies in the markets. For example, farmers could only sell their goods to the Dutch East India Company.

Behavioral Science & Policy: Volume 2, Issue 1 Craig Fox, Sim B. Sitkin, 2016-11-22 The success of nearly all public and private sector policies hinges on the behavior of individuals groups and organizations Today such behaviors are better understood than ever thanks to a growing body of practical behavioral science research However policymakers often are unaware of behavioral science findings that may help them craft and execute more effective and efficient policies The pages of this new journal will become a meeting ground a place where scientists and non scientists can encounter clearly described behavioral research that can be put into action By design the scope of BSP is broad with topics spanning health care financial decisionmaking energy and the environment education and culture justice and ethics and work place practices Contributions will be made by researchers with expertise in psychology sociology law behavioral economics organization science decision science and marketing The journal is a key offering of the Behavioral Science Policy Association in partnership with the Brookings Institution The mission of BSPA is to foster dialog between social scientists policymakers and other practitioners in order to promote the application of rigorous empirical behavioral science in ways that serve the public interest BSPA does not advance a particular agenda or political perspective The first issue s contents follow Behavioral Science Policy vol 2 no 1 Table of Contents Editors Note Spotlight Pre Kindergarten Interventions American Policy on Early Childhood Education Development Many Programs Great Hopes Modest Prospects Ron Haskins Evidence for the Benefits of State Prekindergarten Programs Myth Misrepresentation Dale C Farran Mark W Lipsey Reforming Head Start for the 21st Century A Policy Prescription Sara Mead Ashley LiBetti Mitchel Home Visiting Programs Four Evidence Based Lessons for Policymakers Cynthia Osborne Launching Preschool 2 0 A Road Map to High Quality Public Programs at Scale Christina Weiland A 10 Year Strategy of Increased Coordination Comprehensive Investments in Early Child Development Ajay Chaudry Jane Waldfogel Reimagining Accountability in K 12 Education Brian P Gill Jennifer S Lerner Paul Meosky Featured Topic Healthy Through Habit Interventions for Initiating Maintaining Health Behavioral Change Wendy Wood David Neal Making the Truth Stick the Myths Fade Lessons from Cognitive Psychology Norbert Schwarz Eryn Newman William Leach Editorial Policy Towards Ensuring Inclusive and Equitable Quality Education for All Takeshi Sekiya, Keiichi Ogawa, Yuto Kitamura, Akemi Ashida, 2024-11-09 This edited volume builds upon a rich literature base on quality equity and education for all It focuses on enrolment patterns in education and includes extensive micro level analytical data to support their findings The chapters include evidence based analytical methods with three global regions and eleven country case studies that contribute to the United Nation s Sustainable Development Goal 4 SDG 4 Quality Education for All by 2030 The book offers valuable and practical learning materials for policymakers field practitioners researchers and research students specializing in comparative education international educational development and international cooperation Reforming Teaching and Teacher Education Eija Kimonen, Raimo Nevalainen, 2017-03-21 What are the prerequisites for reforming education and how can these reforms be seen in school development and culture How should teacher education support this reform process What are the principles and practices underlying the functioning of the schools of tomorrow These questions are examined in this unique volume The authors in this book argue that the central function of teacher education and education in general is to respond to the challenges brought on by the twenty first century According to this approach the competencies and skills needed in the future are not merely a new addition to school activities but rather something requiring a comprehensive reform of school culture encompassing teacher education curricula and teaching methods Such a fundamental process of change in the action and thinking models used by schools would be an effort to achieve a complete transformation the result of which would be schools developing into organizations that are both creative and imbued with a strong sense of community A central attribute is that the creation of new knowledge is not just restricted to the classroom but also takes place in out of school environments This would link learning to its natural context eventually leading to an ideal instruction that is actively problem oriented holistic and life centered This reform minded volume is divided into three parts The first part focuses on the reform processes in teacher education the second on the reforms of pedagogics at schools and teacher education institutions and the third on the processes of reculturing schools New prospects for active schools in the United States and Europe as well as in Japan and China are discussed The Economics of Target Balances Hans-Werner Sinn, 2020-10-23

Target balances are the largest single item in some of the balance sheets of the Eurosystem's national central banks NCBs and yet very little is known about them by the general public and even by economists This book shows that Target balances measure overdraft credits between the NCBs that resemble ordinary fiscal credit and which have grown disproportionately exceeding one billion euros There is however no parliamentary legitimation for the Target balances The book sheds light on the economic significance of the balances questions their limitlessness and addresses controversial views that have been expressed regarding them It uses the Target statistics to analyze the course of the euro crisis and the ECB's policy reactions from the time of the Lehman bankruptcy up to the outbreak of the Corona crisis It analyses the credit risks involved for the Eurosystem and concludes with a reform proposal This book will be of interest to non specialist economists and policy makers
