CAA2014: 21st Century Archaeology F. Giligny,F. Djindjian,L. Costa,2015-03-31 This volume brings together a selection of papers proposed for the Proceedings of the 42nd Computer Applications and Quantitative Methods in Archaeology conference CAA hosted at Paris 1 Pantheon Sorbonne University from 22nd to 25th April 2014 Optimizing the Delivery of Multiple Ecosystem Goods and Services in Agricultural Systems Maria A. Tsiafouli,Evangelia G. Drakou,Alberto Orgiazzi,Katarina Hedlund,Karl Ritz,2017-10-18 Agricultural land is subjected to a variety of societal pressures as demands for food animal feed and biomass production increase with an added requirement to simultaneously maintain natural areas and mitigate climatic and environmental impacts The biotic elements of agricultural systems interact with the abiotic environment to generate a number of ecosystem functions that offer services benefiting humans across many scales of time and space The intensification of agriculture generally reduces biodiversity including that within soil and impacts negatively upon a number of regulating and supporting ecosystem services There is a global need toward achieving sustainable agricultural systems as also highlighted in the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals There is hence a need for management regimes that enhance both agricultural production and the associated provision of multiple ecosystem services The articles of this Research Topic enhance our knowledge of how management practices applied to agricultural systems affect the delivery of multiple ecosystem services and how trade offs between provisioning regulating and supporting services can be handled both above and below ground They also show the diversity of topics that need to be considered within the framework of ecosystem services delivered by agricultural systems from knowledge on basic concepts and newly proposed frameworks to a focus on specific ecosystem types such as grasslands and high nature value farmlands pollinator habitats and soil habitats This diversity of topics indicates the need for broader scope research integrated with targeted scientific research to promote sustainable agricultural practices and to ensure food security Strengthening Families, Communities, and Schools to Support Children's Development Edmund W. Gordon, Betina Jean-Louis, Nkechi Obiora, 2017-09-05 Drawing on a range of contexts influenced by the Promise Neighborhoods Program a federal place based initiative to improve educational outcomes for students in distressed urban and rural neighborhoods this book outlines effective characteristics and elements for implementing supplementary education Chapter authors demonstrate that the disparities in educational achievement between white and non white students can only be addressed by a holistic approach that takes the communities in which schools are situated as its focal point This edited collection distills the insights gained from the communities implementing such comprehensive education programs and provides the framework and models for reproducing such successes Focus On: 100 Most Popular American Science Fiction Films Wikipedia contributors, education has come to be regarded as a key national programme in many countries and gifted education in science disciplines is now being recognised to be of major importance for economic and technological development. Despite these initiatives and developments internationally there are very few discussions on gifted education in science drawing upon practices and experiences in different national contexts. In support of an international dialogue between researchers and practitioners often working within isolated traditions this book offers information on key influential approaches to science education for gifted learners and surveys current policy and practice from a diverse range of educational contexts. The volume offers an informative introduction for those new to studying gifted science education as well as supporting the development of the field by offering examples of critical thinking about key issues and accounts of the influences at work within education systems and the practical complexities of providing science education for the gifted. The contributions draw upon a variety of research approaches to offer insights into the constraints and affordances of working within particular policy contexts and the strengths and challenges inherent in different approaches to practice. Chapters include Teaching science to the gifted in English state schools locating a compromised gifted talented policy within its systemic context Models of education for science talented adolescents in the United States Past present and likely future trends Navigating the shifting terrain between policy and practice for gifted learners in Tanzania Science education for female indigenous gifted students in the Mexican context Gifted Science Education in the Context of Japanese Standardization This book will appeal to scholars practitioners and policy makers who are in the field of gifted science education

Role of Silicon in Plants Rupesh K. Deshmukh, Jian Feng Ma, Richard R. Bélanger, 2017-12-06 Silicon (Si) is gaining increased attention in the farming sector because of its beneficial effects observed in several crop species particularly under stress conditions. The magnitude of benefits is predominantly observed in plant species that can accumulate Si above a certain threshold. Therefore deciphering the molecular mechanisms and genetic factors conferring a plant ability to take up silicon is necessary. Along these lines several efforts have been made to identify the specific genes regulating Si uptake and distribution in plant tissues. This information finds its usefulness in identifying Si competent species and could eventually lead to improving this ability in low accumulating species. The successful exploitation of Si in agriculture depends highly on the understanding of different Si properties including plant available Si from the soil transport within tissues deposition in plants and Si effect on different metabolic and physiological processes. In addition a better comprehension of external factors influencing Si uptake and deposition in plant tissue remains important. A plant can take up Si efficiently only in the form of silicic acid and most soils despite containing high concentrations of Si are deficient in plant available Si. Consequently soil amendment with fertilizers rich in plant available Si is now viewed as an affordable option to protect plants from the biotic and abiotic stresses and achieve more sustainable cropping management worldwide. Articles compiled in the present research topic touch upon several aspects of Si properties and functionality in plants. The information will be helpful to further our understanding of the role of Si and contribute to exploit the benefits plants derive from it.
