A Call to Action:

Regulate Use of Cell Phones on the Road

When a cell phone goes off in a classroom or at a concert, we are irritated, but at least our lives are not endangered. When we are on the road, however, irresponsible cell phone users are more than irritating: They are putting our lives at risk. Many of us have witnessed drivers so distracted by dialing and chatting that they resemble drunk drivers, weaving between lanes, for example, or nearly running down pedestrians in crosswalks. A number of bills to regulate use of cell phones on the road have been introduced in state legislatures, and the time has come to push for their passage. Regulation is needed because drivers using phones are seriously impaired and because laws on negligent and reckless driving are not sufficient to punish offenders.

No one can deny that cell phones have caused traffic deaths and injuries. Cell phones were implicated in three fatal accidents in November 1999 alone. Early in November, two-year-old Morgan Pena was killed by a driver distracted by his cell phone. Morgan's mother, Patti Pena, reports that the driver "ran a stop sign at 45 mph, broadsided my vehicle and killed Morgan as she sat in her car seat." A week later, corrections officer Shannon Smith, who was guarding prisoners by the side of the road, was killed by a woman distracted by a phone call (Besthoff). On Thanksgiving weekend that same month, John and Carole Hall were killed when a Naval

Writing and Thinking in Contemporary Academia Martin Grünfeld, 2019-06-19 Across disciplinary borders clarity is taken for granted as a cardinal virtue of communication in contemporary academia But what is clarity how is it practised in writing across disciplinary borders and how does it affect our ways of researching and thinking This book explores such questions by scrutinising the ideal of clarity beyond its apparently self evident value

Through a multi methodological empirical analysis of the ideal of clarity the author offers a sketch of what is termed the poetics of clarity which is unfolded as a field of tension with important implications for sentence formation authorial positioning and textual organisation By way of a series of reflections on the possible consequences of this for thinking this volume also explores the parts of knowledge production that may be marginalised especially poetic language use biases interests and contexts multi dimensional arguments and errors Revealing a positivist bias and a regime of high speed consumption that characterise what in certain regards might be considered a productive space for knowledge production Writing and Thinking in Contemporary Academia will appeal to scholars with interests in the sociology of knowledge continental philosophy the philosophy of science and academic writing
