

AGRICULTURE GRADE 10 NOTES

Livestock Production Selection and Breeding

Introduction

- The breeding of animals is under human control, and the breeders decide which individuals shall produce the next generation.
- The breeder makes a choice.
- The breeding of animals is based upon the fact that certain qualities are genetic; hence valuable qualities are passed on from parents to off-springs.
- The qualities can be maintained or improved in the next generation.

The performance of an animal is influenced by two major factors;

- Genetic potential
- The environment, which includes:
 - Feeding,
 - Health,
 - Care
 - The ecological conditions.
- The genetic potential of an animal is inherited from its parents.
- In selection and breeding animals with superior characteristics are selected and allowed to mate.
- In the process they transmit the superior characteristics to their offspring.
- When this is done over a long period of time, it results in livestock improvement.

Reproduction and Reproductive Systems

- Reproduction is the process by which off-springs are produced.
- All farm animals multiply by means of sexual reproduction.
- It begins with fertilization which is the fusion of male and female gametes to form a zygote.
- Fertilization takes place internally in the body of the female.
- The embryo(zygote) formed develops inside body of mother, fed and protected until end of gestation period.
- In poultry, the process is different in that eggs are fertilized internally but laid and development of the chick takes place outside during incubation.
- In both male and female, certain organs are specialized for the process of reproduction.
- Some of these organs secrete fluids which are necessary for the movement and survival of the gametes (reproductive cells.)

Scope For Agriculture Paper1:

Bombay University Handbook University of Bombay, 1926 Achieving the Paris Climate Agreement Goals Sven Teske, 2022-08-09 This open access book is designed as a continuation of the editor's 2019 book Achieving the Paris Climate Agreement Goals. This volume provides an in-depth analysis of industry sectors globally and its purpose is to present emission reduction targets in 5 year steps 2025 to 2050 for the main twelve finance sectors per the Global Industry Classification System. This scientific analysis aims to support the United Nations Principles for Responsible Investment initiative to give sustainability guidance for the global finance industry. The industry sector pathways presented here are based on the latest global and regional 100% renewable energy and non energy greenhouse gas Representative Concentration Pathways in order to keep climate change significantly under 1.5 C and thereby achieve the Paris Climate Agreement goals. The heart of this book is three chapters presenting the results of industry scenario modelling. These chapters cover twelve industry and service sectors as well as transportation and buildings. The specific energy demand and specific emissions are presented based on the emission accounting concept of Scope 1, Scope 2 and Scope 3 emission pathways. This methodology has been developed to measure the climate and sustainability index for companies and this research project expands the methodology to apply it to entire industry sectors. The results presented here are the first overall industry assessments under Scope 1, 2 and 3 from 2020 through 2050. The base for the energy pathways is the scenarios published in the previous volume. The nonenergy GHG emission scenarios broken down to agriculture, forestry and industry are detailed and include all major greenhouse gases and aerosols. The final section of the book presents the main conclusions of the industry pathway development work and recommendations for the finance industry and policy makers. Additionally, future qualitative future investment requirements in specific technologies and measures are presented. Sustainability, growth, and poverty alleviation Stephen A. Vosti,Thomas Anthony Reardon,2007-01-01 Developing countries are under pressure to produce more food for their growing populations conserve natural resources and reduce poverty In the short term however these goals may compete with one another This book focuses on the interactions between agricultural growth and environment and between environment and poverty The chapters analyze and illustrate these interactions with case study evidence from the developing world in general and from specific agroclimatic zones in Africa Asia and Latin America The contributors also discuss what these links mean for development policies agricultural technologies and social and economic institutions With a clearer picture of how these goals interact policymakers and researchers can design strategies for working more effectively to meet them Enhancing Agricultural Innovation World Bank,2006-11-03 An innovation system can be defined as a network of organizations enterprises and individuals demanding and supplying knowledge and bringing it into a social and economic use This book's primary aim therefore is to focus on the largely unexplored operational aspects of the innovation systems concept and to explore its potential for agriculture Enhancing Agricultural Innovation evaluates real world innovation systems and assesses the usefulness of the concept in guiding investments to support knowledge intensive sustainable agricultural development A typology of innovation systems is developed strategies to guide investments for strengthening innovation capacity are drawn up and concrete interventions options defined In its conclusions the book emphasizes the importance of mechanisms for collaboration and interaction Intermediary organizations innovation councils farmer organizations and other means to strengthen collaboration are central to creating the exchange of knowledge and perspectives that will convert knowledge into valuable new social and economic products and services Agricultural Technology Jock R. Anderson,1994 Major complex problems confront agricultural policy analysts and development specialists regarding the broad issue of agricultural technology These topics are reviewed in this volume which consists of 37 chapters developed from papers presented at a conference held at Airlie House Virginia near Washington DC The authors include leading international authorities from the academic sector World Bank and agricultural research centers The chapters are grouped into six parts The first introductory part is followed by investment as the focus of Part II In Part III a variety of conceptual and practical issues involved in the transfer of agricultural technology is considered Part IV includes discussions of concrete technical matters ranging for example from the general to the specific from plant to animal and from soil management to irrigation engineering Emphasis moves from the specifically technological to wider policy issues in Part V and this latter thrust is carried through into the final summarizing section
