Williams,2012-12-06 Primary care medicine is the new frontier in medicine Every nation in the world has recognized the necessity to deliver personal and primary care to its people This includes first contact care care based in a positive and caring personal relationship care by a single healthcare provider for the majority of the patient's problems coordination of all care by the patient's personal provider advocacy for the patient by the provider the provision of preventive care and psychosocial care as well as care for episodes of acute and chronic illness These facets of care work most effectively when they are embedded in a coherent integrated approach The support for primary care derives from several significant trends First technologically based care costs have rocketed beyond reason or availability occurring in the face of exploding populations and diminishing real resources in many parts of the world even in the wealthier nations Simultaneously the primary care disciplines general internal medicine and pediatrics and family medicine have matured significantly Guiding Curriculum Development M. Scott Norton,2016-11-02 Top down mandates concerning the curriculum of the school leave no room for program creativity and program commitment Yet principals and teachers are held accountable for student achievement results Constitutionally powers not granted to the United States are reserved to the States or to the people The book's primary purposes center on the need for placing the responsibility for determining student curriculum and academic achievement the local school level whereby school personnel determine the individual student's personal interests and needs and design a curricular program for each student that fosters personnel success The creative abilities of teachers are inhibited in attempts to implement top down mandates that set forth academic content and instructional methods set forth by federal and state agencies If learning programs and instructional methods are to be designed to meet the individual interests and needs of the learner who is in the best position to determine such needs We believe that the social mental and physical needs of children and youth are determined best by local educational professionals This book sets forth the foundations of practice that will serve these purposes Journal of the American Chemical Society American Chemical Society,1908 Proceedings of the Society are included in v 1 59 1879 1937

Artificial Intelligence & Games Georgi Togeli, 2024-09-03 As has been pointed out by several industrial game AI developers the lack of behavioral modularity across games and in game tasks is detrimental for the development of high quality AI 605 171 An increasingly popular method for ad hoc behavior authoring that eliminates the modularity limitations of FSMs and BTs is the utility based AI approach which can be used for the design of control and decision making systems in games 425 557 Following this approach instances in the game get assigned a particular utility function that gives a value for the importance of the particular instance 10 169 For instance the importance of an enemy being present at a particular distance or the importance of an agent's health being low in this particular context Given the set of all utilities available to an agent and all the options it has utility based AI decides which is the most important option it should consider at this moment 426 The utility based approach is grounded in the utility theory of economics and is based on utility function design The approach is similar to the design of membership functions in a fuzzy set A utility can measure anything from observable objective data e.g. enemy health to subjective notions such as emotions mood and threat The various utilities about possible actions or decisions can be aggregated into linear or non linear formulas and guide the agent to take decisions based on the aggregated utility The utility values can be checked every n frames of the game So while FSMs and BTs would examine one decision at a time utility based AI architectures
