

Studying Abroad: Perspectives for Students

2 pages | 409 words

Nowadays, the number of students aiming to study abroad is increasing continually. From my point of view, more and more students want to study abroad because they want to have a better education, to acquire knowledge of new cultures and for certain to widen their perspective.

Firstly, studying abroad, students will have a better education. Nowadays, many students from developing countries like India, China... set studying in the First World countries as their short-cut way to have an international education. It is because in their countries, the education systems are still in poor condition due to financial situation and faculties. On the contrary, in United States, for example, students can live and study in a distinguished educational environment. It is not because the facilities here are up-to-date but also because the its educational mission. That is to provide student dynamic skills and knowledge that need for their future rather than to feed facts, a method that is still in use in many developing countries.

Secondly, students who study abroad can have a favorable chance to attain knowledge of new culture. Obviously, when a student for the first time studies abroad, he will be exposed to a totally new culture. Here, from people, customs, to views are different from his country. However, due to the proximity of him to the new culture, he can easily learn a lot about it by observing, living with native people or taking part in festivals, what are not existed in books, here. This will help him to have better understanding of the new country and also offer him an overall view of multicultural world he is living in.

Last but not least, studying abroad, the perspective of students is certainly broadened due to experiences they accumulated in the new countries. For example, many American students grow up with the confidence that America is the greatest and does everything best. But indeed, there are still number of astute people in other countries who are working and contributing to the development of the world. That nowadays, many colleges in the US are encouraging their students to study abroad to take a glimpse and to have a different view of other countries.

In short, I believe that better education, cultural experiences and perspective are the most important factors that all students take into consideration when they decide to study abroad as one who examines them carefully will be able to choose his best country to study in.

Scott D. Carpenter, Helena Kaufman, Malene Torp, 2023-07-03 What if our students learn the most when they're far from campus Integrating Worlds demonstrates how high quality off campus study epitomizes integrative learning both supporting and enhancing the entire undergraduate experience While off campus study both study abroad or study away occupies a marginal position on most campuses it has the almost unique capacity to bring together a high concentration of high impact educational practices When we combine global learning with collaborative work shared intellectual pursuits learning communities and more these practices reinforce each other exerting a multiplier effect that can potentially result in the most intense learning experience our students will have It can energize and inspire them for the work they will continue to undertake on their home campus It thus becomes crucial for us to identify or design high quality programs that will achieve these goals Moreover we need to reimagine off campus study as an integrated portion of the undergraduate arc one that begins well before our students depart and continues long after they return In this way we help them understand the interconnectedness not only of the world but also of their own education At the same time the authors recognize material constraints and educational imperatives Off campus study costs money its complexity makes it difficult to assess it overlaps increasingly with internships and civic engagement and by its nature it is more subject to external forces than the on campus experience In careful practical ways Integrating Worlds advances suggestions for dealing with these issues This book urges educators to go beyond the episodic ways we currently link on campus curricula to off campus experience While of interest to specialists in international or intercultural education it speaks most directly to faculty deans and provosts many of whom may have little or dated experience of study abroad and who thus feel unprepared to address this issue of pressing importance As our disciplines and institutions face the complexities of a rapidly changing world this book seeks to fuel the necessary conversations
