'Growing Old' by Mathew Arnold

Yes, this, and more, but not
Ah, 'tis not what in youth we dreamed
'Tis not to have our life
Mellowed and softened as with sun
A golden day's decline

'Tis not to see the world
As from a height, with eye prophetic
And heart profoundly aimed,
And weep, and feel the fulfurling
The yearning

What is it to grow old? To feel our strength, and wish for more, rejoicing in our weakness? To stand with the weak because the possession of power, of wealth, of position, of fame, is the Question: What does the speaker's "dream" represent? How does the speaker's attitude towards it change over the course of the poem? What does the speaker's "eye prophetic" and "heart profoundly aimed" suggest about his perspective on life and death?

Answer: The speaker's "dream" represents a desire for a life of power, wealth, and fame. However, as the poem progresses, the speaker's attitude towards this dream changes. He realizes that this is not what he truly wants, and instead, he values a life of wisdom and insight.

Question: How does the speaker's perspective on the world change as he grows older? What does the "fulfurling" of the yearning suggest about the speaker's emotional state?

Answer: The speaker's perspective on the world changes from one of youthful idealism to one of mature wisdom. The "fulfurling" of the yearning suggests a sense of longing and a desire for a deeper understanding of life and death.

A Comprehensive Digital and Printable Revision guide with an in-depth analysis, tasks, exercises and essay questions.

1. Make short notes of analysis, explaining how and why each one relates to your theme. (What, in your opinion, is the poet's final message or statement about each theme that you chose?)

- 2. What effect does the use of several rhetorical questions by the poet have on this poem?
- 3. Do you agree with the attitudes of the poem? Explore your own thoughts on ageing, and your own experiences with elderly people; you may also want to consider your own views on death and the afterlife in relation to the poem.

It is to feel our strength—
When we are old, with up wither, and quite
The phantom of ourselves,
To hear the world around the living crowd
