are simultaneously increased and concentrated chief amongst them in recent years being the ethnic and racial transformation produced by migration and the gentrification of once socially marginal areas of the city Seeing Cities Change demonstrates the utility of a visual approach and the study of ordinary streetscapes to document and analyze how the built environment reflects the changing cultural and class identities of neighborhood residents Discussing the manner in which these changes relate to issues of local and national identities and multiculturalism it presents studies of various cities on both sides of the Atlantic to show how global forces and the competition between urban residents in contested terrains is changing the faces of cities around the globe Blending together a variety of sources from scholarly and mass media this engaging volume focuses on the importance of seeing and in its consideration of questions of migration ethnicity diversity community identity class and culture will appeal to sociologists anthropologists and geographers with interests in visual methods and urban spaces
