Sri Guru-Granth Sahib, English Version, 1962

The Embodied Mind, revised edition Francisco J. Varela, Evan Thompson, Eleanor Rosch, 2017-01-13 A new edition of a classic work that originated the embodied cognition movement and was one of the first to link science and Buddhist practices This classic book first published in 1991 was one of the first to propose the embodied cognition approach in cognitive science It pioneered the connections between phenomenology and science and between Buddhist practices and science claims that have since become highly influential Through this cross fertilization of disparate fields of study The Embodied Mind introduced a new form of cognitive science called enaction in which both the environment and first person experience are aspects of embodiment However enactive embodiment is not the grasping of an independent outside world by a brain a mind or a self rather it is the bringing forth of an interdependent world in and through embodied action Although enacted cognition lacks an absolute foundation the book shows how that does not lead to either experiential or philosophical nihilism Above all the book's arguments were powered by the conviction that the sciences of mind must encompass lived human experience and the possibilities for transformation inherent in human experience This revised edition includes substantive introductions by Evan Thompson and Eleanor Rosch that clarify central arguments of the work and discuss and evaluate subsequent research that has expanded on the themes of the book including the renewed theoretical and practical interest in Buddhism and mindfulness A preface by Jon Kabat Zinn the originator of the mindfulness based stress reduction program contextualizes the book and describes its influence on his life and work

A Commerce of Knowledge Simon Mills, 2020-01-07 A Commerce of Knowledge tells the story of three generations of Church of England chaplains who served the English Levant Company in Syria during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Reconstructing the careers of its protagonists in the cosmopolitan city of Ottoman Aleppo Simon Mills investigates the links between English commercial and diplomatic expansion and English scholarly and missionary interests the study of Middle Eastern languages the exploration of biblical and Greco Roman antiquities and the early dissemination of Protestant literature in Arabic Early modern Orientalism is usually conceived as an episode in the history of scholarship By shifting the focus to Aleppo A Commerce of Knowledge brings to light the connections between the seemingly separate worlds tracing the emergence of new kinds of philological and archaeological enquiry in England back to a series of real world encounters between the chaplains and the scribes booksellers priests rabbis and sheikhs they encountered in the Ottoman Empire Setting the careers of its protagonists against a background of broader developments across Protestant and Catholic Europe Mills shows how the institutionalization of English scholarship and the later English attempt to influence the Eastern Christian churches were bound up with the international struggle to establish a commercial foothold in the Levant He argues that these connections would endure until the shift of British commercial and imperial interests to the Indian subcontinent in the second half of the eighteenth century fostered new currents of intellectual life at home

The Cycle of the Year as a Path of Initiation Sergei O. Prokofieff, 2014-03-12 In ancient times humanity possessed an innate knowledge of the spiritual foundations of existence Such knowledge could be acquired through inwardly accompanying the cycle of the year and its connected great seasonal festivals But this instinctive knowledge had to be lost in order for human beings to discover individual freedom In our time as Sergei O Prokofieff demonstrates in this comprehensive work this knowledge must be found anew through the free light filled consciousness of the fully developed human personality Tracing the spiritual path of the yearly cycle Prokofieff penetrates to the deeper esoteric realities of the seven Christian festivals of Michaelmas Christmas Epiphany Easter Ascension Whitsun and St John s Tide Basing his research on the work of the twentieth century initiate Rudolf Steiner he reveals how these festivals are spiritual facts that exist independently of religious traditions and cultural customs Working with the festivals in an esoteric sense can provide a true path of initiation ultimately enabling an experience of the Being of the Earth Christ The journey of study through this book can thus lead the reader to an experience of the modern Christian Rosicrucian path along which it is possible to take the first steps towards life in partnership with the course of cosmic existence

Why We Snap Douglas Fields, 2016-01-12 The startling new science behind sudden acts of violence and the nine triggers this groundbreaking researcher has uncovered We all have a rage circuit we can t fully control once it is engaged as R Douglas Fields PhD reveals in this essential book for our time The daily headlines are filled with examples of otherwise rational people with no history of violence or mental illness suddenly snapping in a domestic dispute an altercation with police or road rage attack We all wish to believe that we are in control of our actions but the fact is in certain circumstances we are not The sad truth is that the right trigger in the right circumstance can unleash a fit of rage in almost anyone But there is a twist Essentially the same pathway in the brain that can result in a violent outburst can also enable us to act heroically and altruistically before our conscious brain knows what we are doing Think of the stranger who dives into a frigid winter lake to save a drowning child Dr Fields is an internationally recognized neurobiologist and authority on the brain and the cellular mechanisms of memory He has spent years trying to understand the biological basis of rage and anomalous violence and he has concluded that our culture s understanding of the problem is based on an erroneous assumption that rage attacks are the product of morally or mentally defective individuals rather than a capacity that we all possess Fields shows that violent behavior is the result of the clash between our evolutionary hardwiring and triggers in our contemporary world Our personal space is more crowded than ever we get less sleep and we just aren t as fit as our ancestors We need to understand how the hardwiring works and how to recognize the nine triggers With a totally new perspective engaging narrative and practical advice Why We Snap uncovers the biological roots of the rage response and how we can protect ourselves and others

Buddhism and the Senses Robert DeCaroli,Donald S. Lopez Jr.,Donald S Lopez Jr,2024-09-24 Across Buddhist traditions the five senses sight sound smell taste and touch are perceived both positively and negatively Share our eminent scholars fascination and deep insight into what makes a sensuous experience good or bad Following on the exhibition Encountering the Buddha Art and Practice across Asia at the National Museum of Asian Art ten eminent scholars present their insights into Buddhism s fascinating relation with the five senses sight sound smell taste and touch which careens between delight and disgust rarely finding a middle way While much of Buddhist literature is devoted to overcoming the attachment that dooms us to rebirth in samsara primarily by deprecating sense experience and showing that whatever brings us sensual pleasure leads only to physical and mental pain in texts such as the Lotus Sutra sensory powers do not offer sensory pleasure but rather knowledge clear observation and ability to teach the Dharma Considering such religiously and historically contingent ambiguity this volume presents each of the five senses in two instantiations the good and the bad opening up the discourse on the senses across Buddhist traditions Just as the museum departed from tradition to incorporate sensory experiences into the exhibition this volume is a new direction in scholarship to humanize Buddhist studies by foregrounding sensory experience and practice inviting the reader to think about the senses in a focused manner and shifting our understanding of Buddhism from the conceptual to the material or practical from the idealized to the human from the abstract to the grounded from the mind to the body

Reflections on Indian Thought Anindita Niyogi Balslev,2025-03-22 This anthology consisting of fourteen essays deals with a variety of themes that are of central importance for an authentic appreciation of the philosophical core of the Indian culture The readers will find here illuminating discussions on various issues that bear witness to the critical thinking and deep reflection on the part of the author that have enabled her to carefully expose the subtle internal divergences that nourish the Indian conceptual world Based on arduous and painstaking research these essays focus on a range of topics There are several essays on multiple aspects of the large themes of time and consciousness penetrating analysis showing how in the ancient discourse ideas of kle a affliction abhy sa practice and karu compassion as well as on women and values are dealt with There are also deliberations on the themes of religious diversity and the need for an encounter of world religions along with the attempt to explore India's self image All these have contemporary relevance as these essays clearly bring out the distinctive character of a living culture Believing Without Belonging? Vinod John,2020-11-19 This study examines an indigenous phenomenon of the Hindu devotees of Jesus Christ and their response to the gospel through an empirical case study conducted in Varanasi India It analyzes their religious beliefs and social belonging and addresses the ensuing questions from a historical theological and missiological perspective The data reveals that the respondents profess faith in Jesus Christ however most remain unbaptized and insist on their Hindu identity Hence a heuristic model for a contextualized baptism as Guru diksha is proposed The emergent church among Hindu devotees should be considered from the perspective of world Christianity as a disparate form of belonging while remaining within one's community of birth The insistence on a visible church and a distinct community of Christ's followers is contested because the devotees should construct their contextual ecclesiology since it is an indigenous discovery of the Christian faith Thus the Christian label for the adherents is dispensable while retaining their socio ethnic Hindu identity Christian mission should discontinue extraction and assimilation instead missional praxis should be within the given sociocultural structures recognizing their idiosyncrasies as legitimate in God's eyes and in need of transformation like any human culture A Theory of Intergenerational Justice Joerg Chet Tremmel, 2009-12-01 The appeal to our obligations to future generations is one of the most forceful emotional and effective arguments available to politicians and citizens and is the cornerstone of all modern policies aimed at sustainable development Yet the exact nature and extent of these obligations are unclear who owes what to whom exactly and why This highly accessible book provides an extensive and comprehensive overview of current research and theory about why and how we should protect future generations It exposes how and why the interests of people today and those of future generations are often in conflict and what can be done It rebuts critical concepts such as Parfit's non identity paradox and Beckerman's denial of any possibility of intergenerational justice The core of the book is the lucid application of a veil of ignorance to derive principles of intergenerational justice which show that our duties to posterity are stronger than is often supposed Tremmel's approach demands that each generation both consider and improve the well being of future generations To measure the well being of future generations Tremmel employs the Human Development Index rather than the metrics of utilitarian subjective happiness The book thus answers in detailed concrete terms the two most important questions of every theory of intergenerational justice what to sustain and how much to sustain Ultimately this book provides a theory of intergenerational justice that is both intellectually robust and practical with wide applicability to law policy economics climate change and all other contexts that affect future generations New Age Purohit Darpan: Satyanarayana Puja Kanai Mukherjee, Bibhas Bandyopadhyay, Aloka Chakravarty, This book is compiled with the goal of explaining the hidden history significance and meaning of the mantras used in common Hindu puja rituals performed by the Bengalis to the Bengali immigrants Metaphysics Roy W. Perrett, 2013-10-15 First Published in 2001 Part of the Indian Philosophy collection of readings this volume focuses on Metaphysics The complement to pramāṇa theory is pramēya theory Whereas the pramāṇas are the means of knowledge the pramēyas are the knowables cognizable entities which constitute the world With respect to the number and kinds of such entities there was a very wide variety of opinion among classical Indian philosophers Moreover since according to most Indian systems knowledge of reality is at least a necessary condition for liberation these metaphysical disputes were taken to be of practical as well as theoretical import Fibre & Fabric, 1897 The Embodied Mind Francisco J. Varela, Eleanor Rosch, Evan Thompson, 1992-11-13 The Embodied Mind provides a unique sophisticated treatment of the spontaneous and reflective dimension of human experience The authors argue that only by having a sense of common ground between mind in Science and mind in experience can our understanding of cognition be more complete Toward that end they develop a dialogue between cognitive science and Buddhist meditative psychology and situate it in relation to other traditions such as phenomenology and psychoanalysis A Malay-English dictionary Richard
