Seeking More Of The Sky Growing Up In The 1930 S:

Seeking More of the Sky Charles N. Stevens,2014-12-02 The stories presented in this book follow the life of a young boy growing up in Inglewood California a suburb of Los Angeles during the 1930s The author lived during the depression when unemployment was affecting many and banks were closed while the clouds of war were gathering in Europe But he was lucky enough to be raised in a loving family the power of that love reflected throughout his stories The day when boys would have cell phones television smart phones and Ipads was in the far distant future Boys made do with what they had old tires bottle caps marbles spools and anything else they could find around the house forcing them to be inventive in their play It was a period when milkmen delivered milk in bottles icemen brought blocks of ice for the ice box and the sound of steam locomotives echoed through the town These true stories take the reader back to a simpler time Older readers may find a little of themselves in the stories while the young may be amazed by how boys lived over seventy five years ago 100 More

Although over the next half century their contrasting lives were challenged by exhilarating highs and devastating lows that bond would endure Through unpublished letters unit diaries declassified military records manuscripts and new and illuminating interviews The Wingmen reveals an epic and intimate portrait of two heroes larger than life and yet ineffably human ordinary men who accomplished the extraordinary At its heart this was a conflicted friendship that found commonality in mutual respect throughout the perils of war sports dominance scientific innovation cutthroat national politics the burden of celebrity and the meaning of bravery Now author Adam Lazaraus sheds light on a largely forgotten chapter in these legends lives as singular individuals inspiring patriots and eventually however improbable profoundly close friends

The Two Faces of Christianity Richard Markham Oxtoby, 2014-08-29 Applying Eric Fromm s concept of the differences between Humanistic and Authoritarian religions The Two Faces of Christianity proposes that Christianity consists of two distinctly different religions which co exist under the same verbal label The ethical teachings of that inspired Jewish religious genius Jesus of Nazareth which has traditionally been believed to be the core around which the religion of Christianity has been built constitute a Humanistic Religion In many parts of the Christian Church the tenets of that religion have all but disappeared under the spreading influence of the salvation theology of St Paul and his fellow travellers Examination of the guilt ridden mind of St Paul to whom the authorship of nearly half of the 27 books of the New Testament has been attributed throws revealing light on how this process has taken place Paul s notoriously neurotic anxieties about sex are just one of the more striking manifestations of the psychopathology of his split personality which has been a major influence in the process by which the Humanistic religion of Jesus has been transformed into an oppressive Authoritarian one
