Standard Explanation: Ray Tracing (Mirrors)Vocabulary: incident ray, reflected ray, focal point, magnification, real image, virtual imagePrerequisite Knowledge Questions (Use Science 802-0208 as your guide.)

For mirror questions, it would be helpful to have a mental representation of how light rays travel and how images are formed including an example of a mirror.

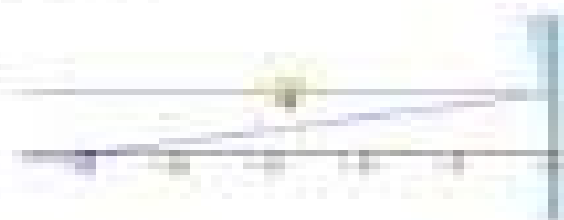

1. Look at yourself in the back of that spoon (the side where the bowl is). What do you see?

See yourself upside down.The back of a spoon is an example of a convex mirror.

2. What do you see when you look at yourself the front of a spoon? See right side up.

The front of a spoon is an example of a concave mirror.Classroom Activity

Use your drawing of a concave mirror as well as a piece of a light bulb positioned to the left of a concave light ray's path to find the light bulb's real image and image.

To help, add the following questions only for the student: Can you draw a light ray from the top of the bulb through the focal point and then only the parallel ray is missing?

3. The image size in terms of the mirror is the magnification of the mirror. Where the light bulb is the left of the focal point, what is always true about the ray that is reflected from the parallel ray?

Whether the light source is a light bulb or the light passing through the bulb.
