Scotland's Harvest Richie McCaffery, 2023-07-24 This study is the first exploration of the impact of World War Two on Scottish poets of both the front line and the home front World War One has always been thought of as a poet s war one of horror and futility The poetry of World War Two by contrast has long languished in its shadow though there was a much greater amount of it written This book asks whether these poets felt they were grown for war or rather that they grew through war experience with an emphasis on the possibilities of the future instead of cataloguing the senseless horror of the battlefield How were the hopes of Scottish poets different from their English counterparts How was their poetry different and how did it impact on their later lives

Prizing Scottish Literature Stevie Marsden, 2021-02-15 This cultural history of the Saltire Society Literary Awards demonstrates the significance the awards have had within Scottish literary and cultural life It is one piece of the wider cultural award puzzle and illustrates how far from being parochial or niche lesser known awards whose histories may be yet untold play their own role in the circulation of cultural value through the consecration of literary value The study of the Society's Book of the Year and First Book of the Year Awards not only highlights how important connections between literary awards and national culture and identity are within prize culture and how literary awards and their founding institutions can be products of the socio political and cultural milieu in which they form but this study also illustrates how existing literary award scholarship has only begun to scratch the surface of the complexities of the phenomenon This book promotes a new approach to considering literary prizes proposing that the concept of the literary awards hierarchy can contribute to emerging and developing discourses pertaining to literary and indeed cultural prizes more broadly

The Literary Culture of Early Modern Scotland Sebastiaan Verweij, 2016-03-24 This study presents a history of the literary culture of early modern Scotland 1560-1625 based on extensive study of the literary manuscript It argues for the importance of three key places of production of such manuscripts the royal court burghs and towns and regional houses stately homes but also minor lairdly and non aristocratic households This attention to place facilitates a discussion of respectively courtly urban or civic and regional literary cultures Sebastiaan Verweij's methodology stems from bibliographical scholarship and the study of the History of the Book and more specifically from a school of manuscript research that has invigorated early modern English literary criticism over the last few decades The Literary Culture of Early Modern Scotland will also intersect with a programme of reassessment of early modern Scottish culture that is currently underway in Scottish studies Traditional narratives of literary history have often regarded the Reformation of 1560 as heralding a terminal cultural decline and the Union of Crowns of 1603 with the departure of king and court was thought to have brought the briefest of renaissances in the 1580s and 1590s to an early end This book purposefully straddles the Union in order to make possible the rediscovery of Scotland's refined and sophisticated renaissance culture Edinburgh Companion to Scottish Women's Writing

Glenda Norquay, 2012-06-20 By combining historical spread with a thematic structure this volume explores the ways in which gender has shaped literary output and addresses the changing situations in which Scottish women lived and wrote From

Tartan to Tartanry Ian Brown, 2012-09-12 Draws together contributions from the leading researchers to provide a contemporary evaluation of tartan and tartanry Bella Caledonia Kirsten Stirling, 2008-01-01 Bella Caledonia Woman Nation Text looks at the widespread tradition of using a female figure to represent the nation focusing on twentieth century Scottish literature The woman as nation figure emerged in Scotland in the twentieth century but as a literary figure rather than an institutional icon like Britannia or France's Marianne Scottish writers make use of familiar aspects of the trope such as the protective mother nation and the woman as fertile land which are obviously problematic from a feminist perspective But darker implications buried in the long history of the figure rise to the surface in Scotland such as woman nation as victim and woman nation as deformed or monstrous As a result of Scotland's unusual status as a nation within the larger entity of Great Britain the literary figures under consideration here are never simply incarnations of a confident and complete nation nurturing her warrior sons Rather they reflect a more modern anxiety about the concept of the nation and embody a troubled and divided national identity Kirsten Stirling traces the development of the twentieth century Scotland as woman figure through readings of poetry and fiction by male and female writers including Hugh MacDiarmid Naomi Mitchison Neil Gunn Lewis Grassie Gibbon Willa Muir Alasdair Gray A L Kennedy Ellen Galford and Janice Galloway Edinburgh Companion to Robert Burns Gerard Carruthers, 2009-06-25 The Edinburgh Companion to Robert Burns provides both a comprehensive introduction to and the most contemporary critical contexts for the study of Robert Burns Detailed commentary on the artistry of Burns is complemented by material on the cultural reception and afterlife of this most iconic of world writers The biographical construction of Burns is examined as are his relations to Scottish Romantic and International cultures Burns is also approached in terms of his engagements with Ecology Gender Pastoral Politics Pornography Slavery and Song culture and there is extensive coverage of publishing history including Burns's place in popular bourgeois and Enlightenment cultures during the late eighteenth century This is the most modern collection of critical responses to Burns from scholars from the United Kingdom and North America which more than ever before seeks to place Burns as a mainstream man of Enlightenment and Romantic impetus and to explain the enduring and sometimes controversial fascination for both the man and his work over more than two hundred years

Leigh Bonds, 2022-12-30 The Routledge Companion to Romantic Women Writers overviews critical reception for Romantic women writers from their earliest periodical reviews through the most current scholarship and directs users to avenues of future research It is divided into two parts The first section offers topical discussions on the status of provincial poets on women's engagement in children's literature the relation of women writers to their religious backgrounds the historical backgrounds to women's orientalism and their engagement in debates on slavery and abolition The second part surveys the life and careers of individual women some 47 in all with sections for biography biographical resources works modern editions archival holdings critical reception and avenues for further research The final sections of each essay offer further guidance for researchers including Signatures under which the author published and a List of Works accompanied whenever possible with contemporary prices and publishing formats To facilitate research a robust Works Cited includes all texts mentioned or quoted in the essay

Accountability in education: meeting our commitments UNESCO, 2017-10-30 The second edition of the Global Education Monitoring Report GEM Report presents the latest evidence on global progress towards the education targets of the UN Sustainable Development Goals With hundreds of millions of people still not going to school and many not achieving minimum skills at school it is clear education systems are off track to achieve global goals The marginalized currently bear the most consequences but also stand to benefit the most if policy makers pay sufficient attention to their needs Faced with these challenges along with tight budgets and increased emphasis on results oriented value for money countries are searching for solutions Increased accountability often tops the list The 2017 8 GEM Report shows the entire array of approaches to accountability in education It ranges from countries unused to the concept where violations of the right to education go unchallenged to countries where accountability has become an end in itself instead of a means to inclusive equitable and high quality education and lifelong learning for all The report emphasizes that education is a shared responsibility While governments have primary responsibility all actors schools teachers parents students international organizations private sector providers civil society and the media 0 3 have a role in improving education systems The report emphasized the importance of transparency and availability of information but urges caution in how data are used It makes the case for avoiding accountability systems with a disproportionate focus on narrowly defined results and punitive sanctions In an era of multiple accountability tools the report provides clear evidence on those that are working and those that are not Back cover
