

Eagle Scout Recommendation Letter

Dear Eagle Board of Review:

I am pleased to be presented with the opportunity to provide this letter of recommendation for my son's best friend, Kevin McAllister. This outstanding young man has become an honorary member of our family as he's spent countless nights here in our home. He is always a kind, courteous, and respectful house guest, and a wonderful influence on our son. It is with such joy that I can recommend Kevin to join the ranks of Eagle Scout.

Kevin was nine years old when he befriended our son Baron (7 at the time) through the Cub Scouts program. While this age difference is less significant now, it seemed profound to our boy at the time. Here was an older kid who was willing to give him the time of day, who was friendly, kind, and patient (though our son may not have recognized his patience at the time). Baron was, and still is, a late bloomer and he's had his fair share of bullying. Kevin has always been there to support him, a loyal friend through and through.

I personally was able to witness Kevin complete his Eagle Scout Service Project; a free basketball camp for 100 kids of low-income parents. Kevin has always been a gifted athlete, but more than that he's a compassionate community member. Our son explained how Kevin spent weeks planning and organizing the summer basketball camp, assembling a day-by-day itinerary, calling high school and middle school coaches, and asking favors from his fellow teammates to volunteer their time. In the end, the camp was a great success and it inspired Baron to follow in his footsteps when it comes time for him to advance up the ranks.

It's been a pleasure getting to know Kevin over the years and watching him grow into the man that he is today. I have no doubt that he will continue to make valuable contributions to his community as he exhibits the principles held within the Scout Oath and Law on a daily basis. Thank you very much for your time.

Frederick, 2015-08-06 Joseph B Frederick PhD had fond memories of the B O Railroad except for the time he caught his shoe in the tracks and almost lost his leg and probably his life When he was eight years old he found his lost twin who died in utero He thought he must take responsibility of living his life which had something to do with the lost life of his twin He invites you to come with him and share his early life and the many side roads he never would have believed possible There are many interesting stories or vignettes easy to read in just a few paragraphs The American Non-Dilemma Nancy DiTomaso, 2013-01-17 The Civil Rights movement of the 1960s seemed to mark a historical turning point in advancing the American dream of equal opportunity for all citizens regardless of race Yet 50 years on racial inequality remains a troubling fact of life in American society and its causes are highly contested In The American Non Dilemma sociologist Nancy DiTomaso convincingly argues that America's enduring racial divide is sustained more by whites preferential treatment of members of their own social networks than by overt racial discrimination Drawing on research from sociology political science history and psychology as well as her own interviews with a cross section of non Hispanic whites DiTomaso provides a comprehensive examination of the persistence of racial inequality in the post Civil Rights era and how it plays out in today's economic and political context Taking Gunnar Myrdal's classic work on America's racial divide The American Dilemma as her departure point DiTomaso focuses on the white side of the race line To do so she interviewed a sample of working middle and upper class whites about their life histories political views and general outlook on racial inequality in America While the vast majority of whites profess strong support for civil rights and equal opportunity regardless of race they continue to pursue their own group based advantage especially in the labor market where whites tend to favor other whites in securing jobs protected from market competition This opportunity hoarding leads to substantially improved life outcomes for whites due to their greater access to social resources from family schools churches and other institutions with which they are engaged DiTomaso also examines how whites understand the persistence of racial inequality in a society where whites are on average the advantaged racial group Most whites see themselves as part of the solution rather than part of the problem with regard to racial inequality Yet they continue to harbor strong reservations about public policies such as affirmative action intended to ameliorate racial inequality In effect they accept the principles of civil rights but not the implementation of policies that would bring about greater racial equality DiTomaso shows that the political engagement of different groups of whites is affected by their views of how civil rights policies impact their ability to provide advantages to family and friends This tension between civil and labor rights is evident in Republicans use of anti civil rights platforms to attract white voters and in the efforts of Democrats to bridge race and class issues or civil and labor rights broadly defined As a result DiTomaso finds that whites are at best uncertain allies in the fight for racial equality Weaving together research on both race and class along with the life experiences of DiTomaso's interview subjects The American Non Dilemma provides a compelling exploration of how racial inequality is reproduced in today's society how people come to terms with the issue in their day to day experiences and what these trends may signify in the contemporary political landscape
