Abstract During subnormality, a subnormal group is a group that is not normal but whose normalizer is the whole group. In this paper, we study the structure of subnormal groups and their normalizers. We prove that if G is a subnormal group of a finite group H , then G is a normal subgroup of H if and only if G is a normal subgroup of H and G is a normal subgroup of H . This result is a generalization of a theorem of Thompson (1960) and is a special case of a more general result of Thompson (1960).

It is important to understand that the distance along the path is not the same as the distance in the plane. The distance in the plane is the straight line distance between the two points, while the distance along the path is the length of the curve connecting them.
