Hashimoto,2018-06-14 Despite unsubstantiated claims of best practice the division of language teaching professionals on the basis of their categorization as native speakers or non native speakers continues to cascade throughout the academic literature It has become normative under the rhetorical guise of acting to correct prejudice and or discrimination to see native speakerism as having a single beneficiary the native speaker and a single victim the non native speaker However this unidirectional perspective fails to deal with the more veiled systems through which those labeled as native speakers and non native speakers are both cast as casualties of this questionable bifurcation This volume documents such complexities and aims to fill the void currently observable within mainstream academic literature in the teaching of both English and Japanese foreign language education By identifying how the construct of Japanese native speaker mirrors that of the native speaker of English the volume presents a revealing insight into language teaching in Japan Further taking a problem solving approach this volume explores possible grounds on which language teachers could be employed if native speakerism is rejected according to experts in the fields of intercultural communicative competence English as a Lingua Franca and World Englishes all of which aim to replace the native speaker model with something new      Nurse Practitioners and Nurse
