The Politics of Potential

Michelle Pentecost, 2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways

Handbook of Research on Promoting Social Justice for Immigrants and Refugees Through Active Citizenship and Intercultural Education Barreto, Isabel María Gómez, 2021-06-11 Migration movements have been a constant in the societies of the past as well as in postmodern society However in the past ten years the increase in political economic and religious conflict amongst nations the increase of the poverty index and many and various natural disasters have duplicated the forced displacement of millions of people across the seven continents of the planet This situation brings important challenges in terms of the vulnerability inequity and discrimination that certain peoples suffer Professionals from the fields of the social sciences education psychology and international law share the fact that education represents an opportunity for children and young migrants to become members with full rights in the societies they arrive in Empirical studies show that that the implementation of the right to education for migrants presents some challenges and dilemmas to the governments of host countries and more specifically to the education centers NGOs universities and the professionals working in them hence the need for more research on these issues of immigration refugees social justice and intercultural education The Handbook of Research on Promoting Social Justice for Immigrants and Refugees Through Active Citizenship and Intercultural Education provides visibility to issues such as the increase in migration and displacement and the difficulties in political agreements educational contexts and in cultural issues stigmatization vulnerability social exclusion racism and hatred amongst host communities This book gives possible solutions to this current complex situation and helps foster and promote sensitivity perspective and critical thinking for a respectful and tolerant coexistence and promotion of equity and social justice The chapters promote cultural diversity and inclusion in classrooms by offering knowledge strategies and research on organizational development for educational institutions and multicultural environments This book is essential for administrators policymakers leaders teachers practitioners researchers academicians and students interested in the promotion of social justice in education for immigrants and refugees
