Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebesse, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeous and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching evidence based practice and further research

Disrupting Higher Education Curriculum Michael Anthony Samuel, Rubby Dhunpath, Nyna Amin, 2017-05-10 Discomfort with the inappropriateness of university curricula has met with increasing calls for disruptive actions to revitalise higher education This book conceived to envision an alternative emancipatory curriculum explores the historical ideological philosophical and theoretical domains of higher education curricula The authors acknowledge that universities have been and continue to be complicit in perpetuating cognitive damage through symbolic violence associated with indifference to the pernicious effects of race categorisation gender inequalities poverty rising unemployment and cultural hegemony as they continue to frame curricula cultures and practices The book contemplates the project of undoing cognitive damage offering glimpses to redesign curriculum in the 21st century The contributors international scholars emergent and expert researchers include different nationalities orientations and positionalities constituting an interdisciplinary ensemble which collectively provides a rich commentary on higher education curriculum as we know it and where we think it could be in the future The edited volume is a catalytic tool for disrupting canonised rituals of practice in higher education It has been a while since a scholarly book so authoritative in its claims and innovative in its concepts threatens to shake up the curriculum field at its foundations Rich in metaphor and meaning the superbly written chapters challenge a field that once more became moribund as we settled so far too comfortably into accepting handed down frames and fictions about knowledge authority power and agency that imprint cognitive damage on those forced to the margins of schools and universities Disrupting Higher Education Curriculum demonstrates however that it is in fact from those margins of the education enterprise that academics teachers and learners can see more clearly how patterns of thought and action hold us back from placing and experiencing our African humanity at the centre of the curriculum Jonathan Jansen Rector and Vice Chancellor of the University of the Free State South Africa
