

CHECKLIST FOR BEDSIDE SHIFT REPORT

A Bedside Shift Report:

- Occurs in inpatient healthcare settings when a change of staff occurs
- Is done on every client in a nurse's care
- Is often done in priority of the most critical to the least critical patient

Knock on the client's door before going into the client's room

Introduce yourself and your colleague and explain what you are doing

Open the EHR if there is one in the room

Conduct a verbal hand-off report

A Good Bedside Shift Report Includes a Client's:

- ✓ Identifying data (name, date of birth, room number)
- ✓ Pertinent medical history, e.g. medications, allergies, and health conditions

Nursing Bedside Shift Report:

Nursing bedside shift report Heather Gleason,2014 For healthcare organizations patient safety and satisfaction are major priorities and are impacted by many different professional disciplines Nurses can influence this greatly through the relationships built with patients and the information provided ot them regarding care while in the hospital Communication errors are the leading cause of sentinel events for patients reiterating the importance of having a safe transfer of care between nurses at shift change Beside shift report not only creates transparency of patient information but results in impoved patient safety and hospital satisfaction scores Completing nursing shift report at the bedside promotes patients and families contribution to reporting discussion and optimizes patient safety through a nurse s visualization of a patient s condition Watson s Caring Theory and the concept of relationship building provide the framework for implementing bedside shift report A conceptual metaphor integrating caring intentionality and relationships into bedside shift report as well as patient and staff responses provides a visual for the goals of the bedside shift report as well as patient and staff responses provides a visual for the goals of the bedside shift report implementation The use of a standardized reporting tool into bedside shift report will be evaluated trhough patient and staff surveys Nurses who implement bedside shift report into their practice will produce positive patient outcomes while demonstrating greater commitment to the caring acts that encompass nursing practice Nurse Bedside Shift Report ,2013 Impact of Nursing Bedside Shift Report Diane Hegedus,2016

Improving Bedside Shift-to-shift Nursing Report Process Nina Herceg,2015 The aim of the bedside shift to shift nursing report project is to increase patient satisfaction improve patient safety and strengthen team work by improving the process of communication during shift change on the orthopedic unit The goal is to put in place a standardized approach to hand over communication between the staff at the change of shift The project includes staff education sessions consisting of video role playing various print materials such as articles and a guide that includes key components of the bedside report It will be implemented on a 48 bed orthopedic unit in a West Los Angeles hospital Microsystem assessment was performed which included SWOT analyses Cause Effect analyses and observation of several change of shift reports Data related 5% compliance with bedside shift to shift report and each shift with three to four nurses with over time This project is planned to be implemented in mid January of 2015 My expected results are an increase in patient satisfaction scores due to patients being informed and included in their treatment plan decrease number of falls reduction in nurse overtime and increase in nurse satisfaction Although the project is still in the planning stage there is an increase in the patient satisfaction score related to nursing communication from 65% in August 2015 to 78 2% in October 2015 Comparative data will be collected post implementation to verify the effectiveness of the project Standardizing the Bedside Shift Report: Improving Communications and Promoting Patient Safety Chona C. Alforque,2020 PROBLEM Nursing shift reports are integral to nursing as they allow for the transfer of critical information and responsibility of patient care from one nurse to another. Ineffective communication during shift to shift reports can contribute to gaps in patient care and breaches in patient safety including medication errors, falls, and sentinel events. The greatest risk of communication breakdown is during transitions in care. CONTEXT St. Louis Regional Hospital, a small community hospital consisting of an eight-bed medical surgical intensive care unit, lacked structure in how handoff should occur and had variances in shift handoffs. Observation of the shift handoff at the nurses station revealed many communication gaps that have shown negative impacts on patient safety and outcomes. The improvement project described in this paper focused on evidence-based practices that support the benefits of bedside shift report and implementations of standardized handoff tools. INTERVENTION Intervention included an education in service for unit managers, educational coordinators, and staff nurses to emphasize the important benefits of bedside shift report. MEASURES The three components for evaluating improvement include outcome, process, and balancing measures to determine whether the improvement project has had the desired impact. The outcome measure expected to yield the following: direct observation of nurses during bedside report to calculate how often it is being done; monitor for decrease in overtime due to more efficient shift to shift bedside reports; and a review of risk management reports observing for effect on the number and severity of medication errors. RESULTS The outcome measure is to increase the nurses' compliance with bedside shift report in the intensive care unit to at least 80% within six months of implementation. CONCLUSION With the proposed change, bedside shift report will address all the safety hazards by reducing adverse events such as medical errors, patient falls at shift change, and sentinel events. Bedside shift report improves patient safety, enhances the quality of care, improves patient and nurse satisfaction, decreases unnecessary healthcare expenditure, and saves time. Promoting Patient Safety by

Implementing Bedside Shift Report Maroof A. Olanigan, 2016 ABSTRACT Patient safety is a very broad and general term used to ensure that all aspects of patient care from medical and nursing services to social and spiritual are provided with the best interest of the patient. The aim statement for the project is improving patient safety by ensuring the implementation of bedside shift report by 80% of nurses by August 2016. Kurt Lewin's change theory is going to be used to effect the change. There were in-services given to nurses on the floor, and the project was also discussed in staff meetings. Flyers were posted around the units to help build up and maintain enthusiasm for the implementation of BSR. Implementation was initiated behind schedule due to conflict in schedules and bureaucratic hoops. The implementation was started on April 28, 2016, and so there are no exact numbers at this time because there is a two-week trial period. But I have had conversations with some nurses that have started the project since initiation. So far, they seem to be very receptive of the change. Most of the patients have been neutral at this time, but we'll see if that's going to be the case in two weeks. There are numerous publications that support the efficacy of bedside shift report in relation to patient care and safety. Publications from the Agency for Healthcare Research Quality (AHRQ), MEDSURG Nursing, American Nurse Today, Journal of Clinical Nursing, and the Nursing Journal are some of the articles that were used to investigate and develop ideas and policies for the project Patient experience with the bedside shift report BSR will be tracked and the data collected will be used to improve the process in order to enhance the patient experience Patient experience would include if the patient felt more engaged in their care if they felt safer and had more confidence in the personnel helping out with the care Also nurse satisfaction is another benchmark that would be measured by sending out surveys periodically in an effort to gauge the opinions of the staff members The data collected from the surveys will be used to develop improvements to the process and increase the comfort level of the nurses in giving BSR We would also track if the nurses feel more accountable for the care they delivered during the shift and if the accountability translates to nurses being more responsible in the care that they deliver Periodic collection of data will be used to monitor patient satisfaction and nursing compliance The data would be monitored by the appointed BSR champions because they would be able to monitor and collect data on compliance of the floor nurses in real time and compare it with data collected from patient satisfaction surveys There are going to be bi weekly meetings to analyze and improve the process by applying PDSA cycle Analysis of the data can also help to recognize fallouts earlier and provide opportunity to make corrections In conclusion sustainability is what is important One of the ways I recommend to ensure continuity of the project by making sure that the new employees regardless of experience are trained during their eight to twelve week floor orientation After conducting a failure mode effect analysis coupled with experience I concluded that continuity is also dependent on proper training of new employees I concluded this because nursing is a high turnover profession and if the current nurses don t teach the new nurses before they leave the facility then the whole process will have to be restarted

Bedside Shift Report and Patient Satisfaction Kasandra R. Johnson,2022 Each year millions of deaths worldwide are caused by medication errors in hospitals Some of these errors are accounted for through miscommunication during the change of the nurse shift report One of the Joint Commission s 2019 national patient safety goals for hospital programs was to improve communication effectiveness among caregivers since mistakes in a caregiver s communication accounted for 37% of severe patient injuries Safety is threatened by patients not being included Therefore adopting the bedside shift report allows patients to be actively engaged reinforcing nurse patient communication The bedside shift report enables nurses to provide safe high quality patient centered care at the bedside At the time of this project a 24 cardiac bed unit at a community hospital in Louisiana lacked a bedside shift report Surveillance of the nurse shift report at the nurses station unveiled countless communication gaps The Hospital Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems survey measures patient perception of their hospital experience The scores from April 2019 revealed a need for improvement in nurse patient communication at the unit level The data were compared for the communication with nurse dimension of the Hospital Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems scores preimplementation of the bedside shift report from April 2020 July 2018 June 2019 discharges with survey scores postimplementation of the bedside shift report from April 2021 July

Bedside Shift Change Report Increases Patient Safety and Staff Satisfaction Doris Onuwa,2013 Change of shift is a very important time in nursing as it is a time when continuity of care is being transferred from one nurse to the other at the end of the shift It allows for information regarding a patient condition to be handed over to the incoming nurse by the outgoing nurse Various method have been used by different facilities which include tape method of shift handoff nurses station report system et cetera Based on research study the system of nurses exchanging information at the patient s bedside with the patient being involved have many benefits over the other methods of shift hand over Patient safety being the watch word in patient care have been the reason for the adoption and implementation of bedside shift change report Effective communication at the patient bedside increases safety as research has shown and also accuracy of report using the bedside shift change report have been demonstrated This system of patient handover is associated with decreased call light during change of shift and also fall reduction Errors in patient care have been reduced according to research with the use of bedside change of shift report Also staff satisfaction have been noted with the use of bedside shift change report as staff verbalized that they were able to go home on time thus reducing incidental overtime Many research studies have suggested the use of this method for the sake of patient safety and improved outcome and also for staff satisfaction

Pathophysiology and Care Protocols for Nursing Management, An Issue of Nursing Clinics Lynn C. Parsons,2016-01-07 Nursing is an evolving profession that requires continued knowledge updates in formulating a foundation for practice In order to promote patient safety and satisfaction it is imperative that nurses monitor publications and increase their knowledge base Each patient is different each care management situation requires an individualized plan of care These require the nurse to develop a personal framework for practice that continually develops from this information This mandates an evolving knowledge base which this edition will supply for nurses who work to deliver care that is research based and protocol driven This issue of Nursing Clinics will be both timely and relevant as it will combine two clearly important topics for nurses in care management pathophysiological updates as well as research based protocols that are important to continuity of validated evidence based care delivery This will give nurses across organizations the opportunity to see care from a perspective of patient wholeness and not truncate care in order to address total components With care reimbursement dependent on outcomes it is important for the nurse to see care as a continuum and not finite This issue will give nurses this perspective
