

Nursing Education: Personal Statement

✓ Exclusively available on IvyPanda

My interest in nursing started when I received guidance from my father on the essentiality of enrolling in health science classes to help the community. Skill marketing is crucial as it will enable nurses to communicate explicitly about the position they are applying for and their qualifications to execute the role effectively (Hartley et al., 2019). I am applying for a nurse practitioner job specializing in primary care. Several professional skills I possess that make me a better nurse practitioner candidate include executive leadership, clinical instruction, increasing patient outcomes, improving nursing practice, and problem-solving.

In my career path, I registered for a nursing degree and was certified as a registered nurse (RN). I have extensive healthcare work setting knowledge of private practice and outpatient care. My military experience is that I have been able to treat and counsel veterans in a home care nurse company operated by my father. Interacting with the patients made me realize the essentiality of building trust via holistic quality care.

I have volunteered to work at my college, whereby I offered elaborate assistance to the new nursing students by providing mentorship services. My clinical rotations include working as a nurse assistant and registered nurse, collaborating with the medical team to learn more about primary care. My civilian work experience is that I have worked with Somali community members with diverse healthcare needs. I possess exceptional soft skills, such as communication, whereby I can communicate in Arabic, Somali, and English. In addition, I have leadership capabilities as I have been leading a home care nurse company with my father.

Notably, I have outstanding planning and organization skills, and working four years as an RN and four years as a nurse assistant have made me develop hard abilities, including conducting physical exams for patients. I am highly motivated to continue my education and acquire my nursing doctorate in the next few years, enabling me to expand my employability skills as a nurse practitioner.
