The Buddhist Self C. V. Jones, 2020-11-30 Winner of the 2021 Toshihide Numata Book Award in Buddhism The assertion that there is nothing in the constitution of any person that deserves to be considered the self tman a permanent unchanging kernel of personal identity in this life and those to come has been a cornerstone of Buddhist teaching from its inception Whereas other Indian religious systems celebrated the search for and potential discovery of one s true self Buddhism taught about the futility of searching for anything in our experience that is not transient and ephemeral But a small yet influential set of Mah y na Buddhist texts composed in India in the early centuries CE taught that all sentient beings possess at all times and across their successive lives the enduring and superlatively precious nature of a Buddha This was taught with reference to the enigmatic expression tath gatagarbha the womb or chamber for a Buddha which some texts refer to as a person s true self The Buddhist Self is a methodical examination of Indian teaching about the tath gatagarbha otherwise the presence of one s Buddha nature and the extent to which different Buddhist texts and authors articulated this in terms of the self C V Jones attends to each of the Indian Buddhist works responsible for explaining what is meant by the expression tath gatagarbha and how far this should be understood or promoted using the language of selfhood With close attention to these sources Jones argues that the trajectory of Buddha nature thought in India is also the history and legacy of a Buddhist account of what deserves to be called the self an innovative attempt to equip Mah y na Buddhism with an affirmative response to wider Indian interest in the discovery of something precious or even divine in one s own constitution This argument is supplemented by critical consideration of other themes that run through this distinctive body of Mah y nist literature the relationship between Buddhist and non Buddhist teachings about the self the overlap between the tath gatagarbha and the nature of the mind and the originally radical position that the only means of becoming liberated from rebirth is to achieve the same exalted status as the Buddha

The Other Emptiness Michael R. Sheehy, Klaus-Dieter Mathes, 2019-12-01 Presents a new vision of the Buddhist history and philosophy of emptiness in Tibet This book brings together perspectives of leading international Tibetan studies scholars on the subject of zhentong or other emptiness Defined as the emptiness of everything other than the continuous luminous awareness that is one s own enlightened nature this distinctive philosophical and contemplative presentation of emptiness is quite different from rangtong emptiness that lacks independent existence which has had a strong influence on the dissemination of Buddhist philosophy in the West Important topics are addressed including the history literature and philosophy of emptiness that have contributed to zhentong thinking in Tibet from the thirteenth century until today The contributors examine a wide range of views on zhentong from each of the major orders of Tibetan Buddhism highlighting the key Tibetan thinkers in the zhentong philosophical tradition Also discussed are the early formulations of buddhanature interpretations of cosmic time polemical debates about emptiness in Tibet the zhentong view of contemplation and creative innovations of thought in Tibetan Buddhism Highly accessible and informative this book can be used as a scholarly resource as well as a textbook for teaching graduate and undergraduate courses on Buddhist philosophy The book contains extremely interesting material and makes a valuable contribution to the study of Tibetan Buddhism It will be appreciated by those interested in the development of one of the important and yet understudied of its traditions the other emptiness tradition Georges B J Dreyfus coeditor of The Sv tantrika Pr sa gika Distinction What Difference Does a Difference Make Cycle World Magazine ,1996-01 God or the Divine?
