

MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2008 question paper

0452/03

0452 ACCOUNTING
Paper 3, maximum raw mark 100

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began.

All Examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected approaches in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and skills demonstrated.

Mark schemes must be read in conjunction with the question papers and the report on the examination.

- CIE will not enter into discussions or correspondence in connection with these mark schemes.

CIE is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2008 question papers for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level syllabuses and some Ordinary Level syllabuses.

Sustainable Governance in Hybrid Organizations Linne Marie Lauesen, 2016-03-03 In Sustainable Governance in Hybrid Organizations the author Linne Marie Lauesen explores how businesses that have succeeded in conducting sustainable governance manage and govern their sustainable performance in other words how they manage to be economically socially and environmentally sustainable In this respect hybrid organizations that are formed as businesses with a mission to be sustainable and to provide services for society such as water companies are a good point of departure Water companies are highly regulated whilst working primarily for the betterment of society and on behalf of generations to come for whom clean and plentiful water and the preservation of nature is a must Linne Marie has dug deep into these types of hybrid organizations in order to reveal which mechanisms of organizational governance for sustainability are at play and how these organizations manage to balance their triple bottom lines in order to survive financially socially and environmentally and make a business out of their conduct Balancing these three bottom lines in a sustainable way is explained in a clear and accessible way and the juxtaposition between non profit and for profit water companies will show how this model can be transferred to other business spheres

China's Way to Carbon Emissions Reduction Ying Shen, 2015-08-18 Now that the most recent scientific estimates have shown that China has become the world's largest source of greenhouse gas emissions. China's influence on the world's environment and sustainable development highlights the importance of tailoring Chinese climate change law to conform with the requirements of international conventions and agreements on climate change. This thorough analysis, based on an examination of climate status, legal background, and current regulatory systems in China, examines the potential role of different policy instruments in reducing carbon emissions in order to find an appropriate choice for China and recommends approaches to key issues for relevant authorities. The author conducts a comprehensive and in-depth study on the three mainstream environmental policy instruments used to control carbon emissions: the cap and trade system, the carbon tax, and command and control regulations in a Chinese context. She reviews China's current policies and elucidates how the issues of climate change and global warming call for social, environmental, economic, and legal reforms in China, especially in the areas of administrative law and property rights law. Among the issues and topics covered are the following key issues: on designing and implementing each of the three policy instruments; the choice of regulatory instruments for carbon emissions reduction in a socialist market economy based on the discussion of market failure and government failure theories; legal challenges from China's current administrative legislation and the definition of carbon emissions entitlements; practical effect of China's climate change policy at the national, provincial, and local levels; effectiveness of China's implementation of its international obligations; lessons learned from schemes implemented in the United States and Australia; comparison of China's seven regional pilot emissions trading scheme (ETS) programmes with the well-established EU ETS; linkage between China's ETS and other ETSs from a global perspective; and future direction of an emerging carbon market in China. The analysis assesses the critical costs and benefits of each approach in the context of selected case studies, taking legal literature in the field fully into account. Given that the Chinese government is taking steps to reduce emissions by altering energy production and usage and is signalling a willingness to make similar commitments in a multilateral treaty, it is very timely and important for lawmakers and scholars within and outside China to think about new and appropriate regulatory measures to respond to the crisis and plan for a sustainable future. This study provides not only a useful benchmark for both China and other countries in formulating initiatives on enhancing climate protection but also details the global implications for governments and for international organizations concerned with the understanding between China and the rest of the world in the context of climate change mitigation.
