International Anti-Corruption Norms Cecily Rose,2015-08-13 This book traces the creation of international anti corruption norms by states and other actors through four markedly different institutions the Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development the United Nations the Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative and the Financial Action Task Force Each of these institutions oversees an international instrument that requires states to combat corruption Yet only the United Nations oversees anti corruption norms that take the sole form of a binding multilateral treaty The OECD has by contrast fostered the development of the binding 1997 OECD Anti Bribery Convention as well as non binding recommendations and guidance associated with treaty itself In addition the revenue transparency and anti money laundering norms developed through the Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative and the Financial Action

Task Force respectively take the form of non binding instruments that have no relationship with multilateral treaties The creation of international anti corruption norms through non binding instruments and informal institutions has the potential to privilege the interests of powerful states in ways that raise questions about the normative legitimacy of these institutions and the instruments they produce At the same time the anti corruption instruments created under the auspices of these institutions also show that non binding instruments and informal institutions carry significant advantages The non binding instruments in the anti corruption field have demonstrated a capacity to influence domestic legal systems that is comparable to if not greater than that of binding treaties With corruption and money laundering at the forefront of political debate International Anti Corruption Norms provides timely expertise on how states and international institutions grapple with these global problems

REACH Beyond Borders Ondřej Filipec, 2017-08-23 This book discusses how much other countries reflect the EU chemical regulation REACH Registration Evaluation Authorization Restriction of Chemicals in the context of Europeanization theory The main hypothesis verified in this book is that more trade with the EU means more Europeanization as the non EU companies exporting to the EU have an obligation to comply with EU rules according to the No data No Market REACH provision This book further points out that non EU companies voluntarily adopt EU standards while this change has yet to be reflected on the policy level in non EU countries mainly for economic reasons Exploring changes in national chemical regulatory policies among top chemical producers around the World brings new ideas into the process of Europeanization behind EU borders and provides useful material for academia regulatory experts and export oriented chemical industry
