PRINCIPLES RELATING TO THE MARKING OF LIFE SCIENCES

- 1. If more information than marks allocated is given
Stop marking when maximum number of marks is reached and place a wavy line and 'max' in the right-hand margin.
- 2. If, for example, three reasons are required and five are given Mark only the first three irrespective of whether all or some are correct/incorrect.
- 3. If whole process is given when only part of it is required
Read all and credit relevant part.
- 4. If comparisons are asked for and descriptions are given
Accept if differences / similarities are clear.
- 5. If tabulation is required but paragraphs are given Candidates will lose marks for not tabulating.
- 6. If diagrams are given with annotations when descriptions are required
Candidates will lose marks.
- 7. If flow charts are given instead of descriptions
Candidates will lose marks.

November 2013 Lifescience Memo

Joy Y. Zhang, Saheli Datta Burton

November 2013 Lifescience Memo:

NASA Technical Memorandum, 1988 Risk Regulation in the Internal Market Maria Weimer, 2019-03-13 This book offers a topical inquiry into the legal and political limits of EU regulation in the field of risk and new technologies surrounded by techno scientific complexity uncertainty and societal contestation It uses agricultural biotechnology as a paradigmatic example to illustrate the complex intertwinement between environmental public health economic and social concerns in risk regulation Weimer analyses the drawbacks of the EU approach to agricultural biotechnology showing that its reductionism is the narrow understanding of GMO risks as well as the exclusion of broader societal concerns related to environmental and social sustainability has undermined both the legitimacy and effectiveness of EU regulation in this area Resistance to this approach however has also triggered legal innovations prompting us to re think EU internal market law including the way in which it manages the tensions between unity and diversity and between social and economic concerns This text offers fresh and original insights into how far the EU can go in harmonizing regulatory approaches to risk At the same time it proposes new ways of re thinking EU risk regulation to make it more responsive to different perspectives on risk and technology A unique feature of this book is that it contributes to various strains of scholarship including risk regulation internal market law public administration and studies of governance and regulation as well as connecting these themes to broader debates about the legitimacy of European integration and new ways of differentiated integration As a result it assists in re imagining the EU internal market and its regulation as a site of diversity

Global Transformations in the Life Sciences, 1945-1980 Patrick Manning, Mat Savelli, 2018-06-07 The second half of the twentieth century brought extraordinary transformations in knowledge and practice of the life sciences In an era of decolonization mass social welfare policies and the formation of new international institutions such as UNESCO and the WHO monumental advances were made in both theoretical and practical applications of the life sciences including the discovery of life's molecular processes and substantive improvements in global public health and medicine Combining perspectives from the history of science and world history this volume examines the impact of major world historical processes of the postwar period on the evolution of the life sciences Contributors consider the long term evolution of scientific practice research and innovation across a range of fields and subfields in the life sciences and in the context of Cold War anxieties and ambitions Together they examine how the formation of international organizations and global research programs allowed for transnational exchange and cooperation but in a period rife with competition and nationalist interests which influenced dramatic changes in the field as the postcolonial world order unfolded

The elephant and the dragon in contemporary life sciences Joy Y. Zhang, Saheli Datta Burton, 2022-03-15 This book provides a powerful diagnosis of why the global governance of science struggles in the face of emerging powers Through unpacking critical events in China and India over the past twenty years it demonstrates that the subversiveness assumed in the two countries rise in the life sciences reflects many of the regulatory challenges that are shared worldwide It points to a decolonial imperative for science governance to be responsive and effective in a cosmopolitan world By highlighting epistemic injustice within contemporary science the book extends theories of decolonisation

On Mars Edward Clinton Ezell,Linda Neuman Ezell,2013-02-19 Although it was only designed for a ninety day surface mission the Viking 1 lander ultimately transmitted science messages to Earth for seven years This authoritative history chronicles the remarkable achievements of the Viking program during its first three decades Commissioned by NASA it recounts the events surrounding the first planetary landing on Earth s closest neighbor and the first on site search for evidence of extraterrestrial life It also portrays a human drama in which thousands of professionals from government industry and academia joined together to accomplish the seemingly impossible This history begins with a survey of the qualities that make the surface and atmosphere of Mars prime targets for scientific investigation A retrospective of NASA s Mariner program follows detailing the series of robotic interplanetary probes that led to the initiation of the Viking program in 1968 The authors trace the ensuing technological developments including the first lander vehicles and orbiter They also profile the cooperation of managerial technical and scientific teams during the mission s data gathering and analysis phases The final chapters outline the scientific results of the Viking investigations examine some of the unresolved questions and consider possible future explorations Dozens of photos taken by Viking cameras illuminate the text

Implementing a Comprehensive Research Compliance Program Aurali Dade,Lori Olafson,Suzan M. DiBella,2015-07-01 The senior research compliance administrator has emerged as a critically important position as universities and other research organizations face an increasingly intricate regulatory environment These administrators are tasked with a special challenge ensuring that their institutions conduct safe ethical and compliant research while also helping researchers understand and meet compliance requirements and achieve their research goals These competing responsibilities can make the role of the research administrator complex however those who serve in this role may find that they have limited preparation for the challenges and little or no formal education in the field Thus the goal of this handbook is to provide practical guidance to research administrators who are responsible for a wide variety of compliance programs Previous volumes on these topics have focused primarily on educating research faculty staff and students An assumption in many of these handbooks is that all additional questions related to research ethics and regulations should be directed to the senior research administrator yet the books have limited guidance intended for the senior research administrators themselves This handbook is designed therefore to serve as a detailed program implementation manual for these administrators who are expected to be conversant on a broad range of complex ethical and regulatory topics and to provide guidance to those conducting research as well as upper administration and others interested in safe ethical and compliant research

Traversing Digital Babel Alon Peled, 2014-09-12 Alon Peled offers a groundbreaking approach for enabling information sharing among public sector agencies using selective incentives to nudge agencies to exchange information assets

For the Good of the Farmer Fred Whitford, 2013 The key role that farming plays in the economy of Indiana today owes much to the work of John Harrison Skinner 1874 1942 Skinner was a pioneering educator and administrator who transformed the study of agriculture at Purdue University during the first decades of the twentieth century From humble origins occupying one building and 150 acres at the start of his career the agriculture program grew to spread over ten buildings and 1 000 acres by the end of his tenure as its first dean A focused single minded man Skinner understood from his own background as a grain and stock farmer that growers could no longer rely on traditional methods in adapting to a rapidly changing technological and economic environment in which tractors were replacing horses and new crops such as alfalfa and soy were transforming the arable landscape Farmers needed education and only by hiring the best and brightest faculty could Purdue give them the competitive edge that they needed While he excelled as a manager and advocate for Indiana agriculture Skinner never lost touch with his own farming roots taking especial interest in animal husbandry During the course of his career as dean 1907 1939 the number of livestock on Purdue farms increased fourfold and Skinner showed his knowledge of breeding by winning many times at the International Livestock Exposition Today the scale of Purdue s College of Agriculture has increased to offer almost fifty programs to hundreds of students from all over the globe However at its base the agricultural program in place today remains largely as John Harrison Skinner built it responsive to Indiana but with its focus always on scientific innovation in the larger world

Research, Quality, Competitiveness Attilio Stajano, 2008-09-22 The European Union EU was launched as a response to the economic dominance of the United States and to a lesser degree the Soviet Union The nations of Western Europe were too small to compete against large scale and diversified economies on their own Six countries eventually expanding to 27 and counting took a series of steps toward progressively deeper integration the removal of internal tariffs the construction of a common external tariff the elimination of many but not all non tariff barriers leading to a single market and the adoption of a common currency by 15 of the member states The EU today equals and even exceeds the U S on many key indicators of performance In the process two similar but nonetheless divergent models of social and economic life stand in contrast with each other The U S is more committed to capitalism and does little to dilute its harsh edges while the nations of Europe support wider social safety nets and more active regulation of commercial activity to mute the cruel aspects of the free market Until recently the economic dynamism of the U S called into question whether the so called European social model was sustainable in an era of globalization The EU was slipping in competitiveness and was being challenged by new global powerhouses like China and India Although the U S economy has slowed there is little indication that European countries are capable of leveraging the situation to their advantage

Patent Wars Thomas F. Cotter, 2018-06-01 In Patent Wars one of America's leading patent scholars provides an accessible overview of U S patent law the arguments for and against patents and the ongoing debates over topics including the patentability of genes software and business methods the impact of patents on drug prices patent trolls and the smartphone wars
