

Chapter 1 (Sephy)

Questions

1. Why does Sephy wrinkle up her nose? (p19)
2. What verb is used in a reporting clause to suggest Sephy wants Callum to hurry up? (p20)
3. What simile is used to describe Callum's lips? (p21)
4. Why does Sephy pull away from Callum? (p22)
5. What does Callum dream of doing? (p23)
6. Why is the following quotation written in italics in the novel?
'Sephy, I could never be bored of you, with you, around you. You're exciting, scintillating, overwhelming company!' (p24)
7. How old will Callum be in six months' time? (p25)
8. What does Callum reckon is the universal language? (p26)
9. What do you think is being referred to with the quotation 'us noughts and you Crosses'? (p27)
10. Why do you think the author chooses to capitalise 'Crosses'?

Similes

Malorie Blackman uses similes in the first chapter that create interesting and vivid images.

- I'd expected Callum's lips to be hard and dry and scaly like a lizard's skin.
- My heart was beginning to thump in a peculiar, hiccupy way that made me feel like I was racing down a roller-coaster.
- It shone like a shattered mirror, each fragment reflecting and dazzling.

Choose one of the following nouns and create five similes that describe or enhance that noun. Then arrange or modify them to create a simile poem about that object.

sun	wind	rain
fear	a smile	tears

Dreams

Callum dreams of escaping.

Write down what your dreams are. What do you hope to do or achieve – next week, next year, in the next five years, in the next twenty years?

Mental Processes H. C. Longuet-Higgins,1987 Can humans compute This is the question to which H Christopher Longuet Higgins one of the founding figures of cognitive science has devoted his research over the past twenty years His and his field s intellectual odyssey from the fringe to the center of the scientific world s attention is recounted with wit and grace in this wide ranging collection of previously published and original essays The volume begins in the late 1960s when the author had moved from theoretical chemistry to what was then known as theoretical biology It traces his search for new concepts with which to establish a science of the mind and it includes Longuet Higgins s famous comment on the 1971 Lighthill Report in which he introduced the term cognitive science and sketched the possible components of the field The essays are divided into five parts The first Generalities explores the basic philosophical questions at the root of the new science The essays on Music show the importance of the musical sense as a testing ground for understanding cognitive processes in general The author s forays into Language describe some of the major early achievements in the now very active field of computational linguistics The studies of Vision are all directed to the problem crucial for the development of machine vision systems of inferring the structure of a scene from two views The author suggests that the chapters on Memory be treated indulgently as the first attempt of a physical scientist to climb out of the mindless world of atoms and molecules into the real world of subjective experience H Christopher Longuet Higgins is Royal Society Research Professor at the University of Sussex MentalProcesses inaugurates the series Explorations in Cognitive Science edited by Margaret Boden and co sponsored by The MIT Press and The British Psychological Society A Bradford

Book Reading at Greater Depth in Key Stage 2 Suzanne Horton, Louise Beattie, Sharon Lannie, 2018-11-20 Expectations in primary English are high particularly in reading There is an emphasis on inference and deduction together with vocabulary development two key elements for preparing pupils to access texts at a higher level At the same time there is also a change in the rhetoric around guided reading with teachers trying different pedagogies in order to fully prepare pupils for the demands of the reading curriculum This book explores the various approaches to developing higher level readers Context and Method in Qualitative Research Gale Miller, Robert Dingwall, 1997-06-11 A critical examination of the principles and practice of qualitative research is provided in this book which examines the interplay between context and method making it invaluable for both the experienced and the beginning researcher A range of methodological and practical issues central to the concerns of qualitative researchers are addressed These include the validity and plausibility of qualitative methods the problems encountered using specific techniques in a range of social settings and the moral issues raised in qualitative research These themes are related to practical issues which are illustrated by a breadth of examples and in depth case studies The contributors look at the methods and strategies that they have used to study everyday life and make suggestions to readers on why and how they might conduct their own studies They raise issues that go beyond cookbook discussions of issues such as how to enter social settings manage the subjects of one's research and ask good questions in the process of formulating research strategies These issues are addressed within the framework of the larger purposes and uses of qualitative research where specific methodological problems are not used as ends in themselves Advanced Programming David William Barron, J. M. Bishop, Judith Mary Bishop, 1984 The Psychological Mechanisms of Language H. C. Longuet-Higgins, 1981 Recent Advances in the Psychology of Language R. Campbell, 2013-03-09 The Stirling Psychology of Language Conference was held in the University of Stirling 21-26 June 1976 250 people attended the conference and 70 papers were presented The two volumes of Proceedings present a selection of papers from the conference reflecting as far as possible the range of topics that were discussed Volume 1 is concerned exclusively with language acquisition In recent years the centre of gravity of acquisition research has shifted from syntactic and phonological description to the amorphous domains of semantics and pragmatics This shift is reflected in the two large sections II and III devoted to these aspects of language development In addition the volume contains three smaller sections dealing with general problems of acquisition theory syntax and the development of comprehension and applied developmental psycholinguistics Volume 2 contains a substantial section of papers which stress the formal aspects of psycholinguistics these include papers in which artificial intelligence figures prominently papers which apply recent developments in syntax and semantics to psycholinguistic problems and papers that are broadly critical of the use psychologists have made of linguistic theories Volume 2 also contains a section dealing with the experimental study of sentence comprehension and production and there is a final section concerned with phonology and its development Using Computers in the Language Classroom
