

MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2014 series

8779 FIRST LANGUAGE AFRIKAANS

8779/02

Paper 2 (Reading and Writing), maximum raw mark 70

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2014 series for most Cambridge IGCSE[®], Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

November 2014 Cal Mark Scheme:

Linking of Emissions Trading Schemes Matthias Machinek, 2022-02-01 Anthropogenic Climate Change is one of the biggest challenges of the 21st century and receives more and more international awareness. The central instruments to counter climate change are emissions trading schemes (ETS) to cover GHG emissions. To increase efficiency and to ensure global reduction of emissions damaging to the climate, an international emissions trading scheme would be a rational choice. To establish such a global scheme, political decision makers could follow a bottom up approach by linking already existing ETS with each other. The book investigates such linkings of emissions trading schemes which provide many benefits for the linking partners. As experience shows, although the number of schemes increased in the last decade, only a few linkings were established. Thus, the book answers the question if and which conditions for states exist to link their emissions trading schemes.

International Arbitration in the Energy Sector Maxi Scherer, 2018-02-22 Disputes in the energy and natural resources sector are at the heart of international arbitration. With more arbitrations arising in the international energy sector than in any other sector, it is not surprising that the highest valued awards in the history of arbitration come from energy related arbitrations. Energy disputes often involve complex and controversial issues relating to security, sovereignty and public welfare. International Arbitration in the Energy Sector puts international energy disputes into a global context, providing broad coverage of different forms and systems of dispute resolution across both renewable and non-renewable sectors. With contributions from leading arbitrators, academics and industry experts from across the globe, the twenty chapters in the book enable readers to compare the approaches to and learnings from energy arbitrations across various legal systems and geographic regions After outlining the international energy arbitration legal framework in Part I the text delves into a detailed analysis of the problems which regularly arise in practice These include among other things commercial disputes in Part II e g over the upstream oil sector and long term gas supply contracts investor state disputes in Part III e g under the Energy Charter Treaty and public international law disputes in Part IV e g concerning international boundaries and the distribution of natural resources Alongside recent developments in the international energy sector attention is given to climate and sustainable development disputes which raise important questions about enforcing sustainability objectives on individuals corporations and states Backed by analyses of arbitral awards national court and international tribunal decisions treaties and other international legal instruments as well as current events and news in the energy industry this text offers a unique contribution to international energy literature and provides insightful commentary on the prevalent issues in the field It is essential reading for any practitioner or researcher in the energy and natural resources sector

Smart University Lindsay Weinberg, 2024-10-08 How surveillance perpetuates long standing injustices woven into the fabric of higher education Higher education increasingly relies on digital surveillance in the United States Administrators consulting firms and education technology vendors are celebrating digital tools as a means of ushering in the age of smart universities By digitally monitoring and managing campus life institutions can supposedly run their services more efficiently strengthen the quality of higher education and better prepare students for future roles in the digital economy Yet in practice these initiatives often perpetuate austerity structural racism and privatization at public universities under the guise of solving higher education s most intractable problems In Smart University Lindsay Weinberg evaluates how this latest era of tech solutions and systems in our schools impacts students abilities to access opportunities and exercise autonomy on their campuses Using historical and textual analysis of administrative discourses university policies conference proceedings grant solicitations news reports tech industry marketing materials and product demonstrations Weinberg argues that these more recent transformations are best understood as part of a longer history of universities supporting the development of technologies that reproduce racial and economic injustice on their campuses and in their communities Aimed at anyone concerned with the future of surveillance on higher education Smart University empowers readers with the knowledge tools and frameworks for contesting and reimagining the role of digital technology on university campuses terms of public benefits environmental advocates emphasized the public ownership of the atmospheric commons and private corporations responsibility to pay for their use of it Raymond argues that this kind of normative reframing is significant not only for environmental policy making but also for theories of the policy process helping to explain and predict sudden policy change Text Book For Environmental Laws Dr. Shaikh Ahmad Shaikh Ismail, The environmental protection is a topic which has been at the forefront of the social concern during last two decades in both national and international level But most of things concern has been directed towards the study of impact of environmental pollution to human health natural fauna and flora biosphere and developing a preventive mechanism including legal control With that end in view a legal mechanism for the implementation this book is created Trends and Applications in Knowledge Discovery and Data Mining
