THE Winchester Model 1873 lever-action repeating rifle was introduced in 1873 and was first offered in cal. .44-40 Winchester (.44 WCF). The cal. .38-40 Winchester (.38 WCF) chambering was first offered in 1879, followed by the .32-20 (.32 WCF) in 1882. All of these cartridges were loaded with blackpowder as Winchester did not introduce a smokeless powder cartridge until 1894. The cals. .44, .38, and .32

WCF cartridges were also adapted for use in revolvers of the period and this dual purpose utility enhanced their popularity on the frontier.

In 1884 the Model 1873 rifle was offered in cals. .22 short and .22 long rimfire and with a takedown system in which a removable tapered pin secured the frame and stock assembly to the barrel assembly. This system proved unsatisfactory and was later changed to

Winchester 1873 Manual:

Poor's Manual of Railroads, 1903 Poor's Manual of the Railroads of the United States, 1904 The "Trapdoor" Springfield John Langellier, 2018-06-28 Intended to replace the proliferation of different small arms fielded by US forces during the American Civil War the Trapdoor Springfield was designed in 1865-66 by Erskine S. Allin. Using metallic cartridges it could be loaded in a single action increasing the number of shots per minute as much as fivefold. The new weapon quickly proved its worth in two separate incidents in August 1867: small groups of US soldiers and civilians armed with the trapdoor repulsed numerically superior Native American contingents. A simple and cost-effective weapon, it was used along with its variants in every US conflict in the three decades after the Civil War, especially on the American frontier. Drawing upon first-hand accounts from US soldiers, their Native American opponents, and users such as buffalo hunters, this is the story of the Trapdoor Springfield, one of the defining weapons of the Indian Wars. Poor's Manual of the Railroads of the United States, 1910 With an appendix containing a full analysis of the debts of the United States, the several states, municipalities, etc. Also statements of street railway and traction companies, industrial corporations, etc. statement omitted on later vols. Icons of the American West Gordon Morris Bakken, 2008-06-30 The American West is rich in lore, cultural roots, and iconic images. The subject of countless movies, books, and songs, in many ways it embodies the American spirit. This lively two-volume set presents the stories of some of the most influential and representative Western icons: those that have captured the nation's imagination since the early days of westward exploration and that continue to do so within the environmental and technological frontier that is the modern West. This accessible treatment of the untamed enterprise of the Old West, including cowboys, wild west shows, and gun battles, and the continued entrepreneurial imagination of the paradisaical New West, including environmentalists and the incorporation of national parks, elevates the reader's understanding of oft-romanticized subjects and the conflicts and cultural changes that made them icons. Narrative entries include Chief Joseph, George Armstrong Custer, Gold Rush, Winchester Model 1873, Frederic Remington, John Muir, Las Vegas, Bill Gates, Disneyland, Yellowstone National Park, Sierra Club. With vibrant photos and descriptive sidebars, this comprehensive set is a must-have for students of American history and culture. A Handbook of Medical Electricity Herbert Tibbits, 1877 Firearms of the American West, 1866-1894 Louis A. Garavaglia, Charles G. Worman, 1997 This is the second volume of a two-part encyclopedic reference to firearms in the 19th-century American West, offering both technical information and historical narrative. Covering the period from the close of the Civil War to the modern period, it draws on advertisements from newspapers, catalogues, and other primary sources to discuss the military and civilian firearms used in the settling of the West, including rifles, shotguns, and handguns, as well as the guns used by the Native Americans. Illustrated with some 500 photographs of the weapons and of the people who used them. Annotation copyrighted by Book News, Inc., Portland, OR.
