Winter Blues Jade Goodmore:

Winter Blues Jade Goodmore, 2013-12 Winter Blues is not a story of a love beginning but a love surviving. It's a story of imperfections and frustrations. A story that's rarely told but often lived. A sometimes unpretty story but then real stories normally are. Away from all that they know, all that brought them together, Darlene and Reid find the only troubles their marriage has ever faced in their new home of Chicago. They find a test of loyalties of strength of love when all that they expected to find was their happy ever after. Where Reid finds their new life a breeze, Darlene finds it a storm. Reid powers ahead in his new publishing job, revelling in his success while he fails at home. Darlene is jobless, friendless and increasingly Reid less trapped in a perpetual winter when all she craves is the warmth she's grown accustomed to. She finds comfort in music that has been such a huge part of her life, eventually performing at a local bar and striking up a friendship with its owner. That friendship threatens to expand into something more when everything Darlene is lacking in their marriage is offered to her in the form of the irresistible Blue. Will she deny the consequences and accept him? Or will Reid fight the odds and find a way to recharge their relationship? Happy ever afters are for fairy tales. Forget Me Not Jade Goodmore, 2013-07-12 What happens when a first love is given a second chance? Torn apart ten years previously, Michaela and Jesse's lives couldn't be more different. Jesse is enjoying huge success in New York after denying where he came from, while Michaela treasures the quiet life in their hometown, Starling. Who they are may have changed but their love hasn't. A school reunion forces them to meet again and after a passionate night together, they can't bear to be apart. Faced with problems past and present, the pair try to pick up their relationship where they left off. But when Jesse has spent the last ten years running from his troubled past, he finds the journey home to his true love harder than anything he has ever done. Michaela is rooted there by her son and her family, both of which present problems for Jesse, but after building a life in Starling off of her own determination and strength, Michaela isn't willing to throw that away for anyone. After everything this couple have faced, is compromise the biggest test of all?
