Maritime Security Christian Bueger,Timothy Edmunds,Robert McCabe,2020-10-09 This book studies recent attempts to restructure maritime security sectors through capacity building It innovates both theoretically and empirically It proposes a new framework for understanding maritime capacity building drawing on work in peacebuilding and security sector reform The framework is then applied across empirical case studies from the Western Indian Ocean WIO region written by scholars from the Global South The WIO region is a paradigmatic case to study maritime security and capacity building in action Countries in the region face the full gamut of maritime security challenges while their indigenous capacities to deal with these are often weak In consequence the region functions as an engine of innovation for maritime capacity building more widely The lessons and best practices from the region have importance consequences for addressing maritime security across the globe Naval Powers in the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific Howard M. Hensel,Amit

Gupta,2018-05-11 A vital component of the interdependent global economy maritime transit routes are nowhere more critical than those traversing the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific Previously areas of the Indian Ocean and Western Pacific have been viewed as separate and discrete political economic and military regions In recent years however a variety of economic political and military forces have created a new understanding of these maritime expanses as one zone of global interaction This book complements the material presented in its companion volume Maritime Security in the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific by analysing the perceptions interests objectives maritime capabilities and policies of the major maritime powers operating in the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific In addition the book also assesses the contemporary maritime challenges and opportunities that confront the global community within what is rapidly becoming recognised as an integrated zone of global interaction A valuable study for researchers and policymakers working in the fields of maritime security military security and peace studies conflict resolution and Asian affairs Contemporary Military Geosciences

Illusions of Location Theory: Consequences for Blue Economy in Africa Francis Onditi, Douglas Yates, 2021-01-05

Illusions of Location Theory Consequences for Blue Economy in Africa questions the relevance of location theory in explaining the coastal hinterland continuum and the implications for the utilization of blue economy ecosystem in such a contested space in Africa. It pays more attention to territorial contestations, maritime disputes, vulnerabilities of landlocked states and expansionist policies as displayed through spatial organizational regimes. These areas of investigation have previously been largely studied from the narrow perspective of location, unduly focusing on comparative advantages of distance while neglecting the influence of forces such as technology, ideology and the power of mental mapping in spatial decision making. This volume puts forward the argument that the harmonious relationship between states and efficient exploitation of the blue economy ecosystem in ways that promote peace between states lies not only in the structural transformation of markets but also in bridging the spatial and social divide between the coastal and hinterland societies. Thus, this work proffers possibilities for a holistic regime for managing Africa's coastal hinterland continuum through innovative strategies such as SMART blue economies and the infusion of the geopolitical dimension into the management of maritime and territorial diplomacy. The combination of theoretical and empirical analysis buttressed by in-depth case studies of what works in the management of blue economy ecosystem and what does not work make this volume ideal for researchers, students and practitioners interested in African regional studies, African political economy, political geography, strategic military studies, governance of seas and oceans and maritime science, diplomacy. Emerging Powers in Africa Justin van der Merwe, Ian Taylor, Alexandra Arkhangelskaya, 2016-12-09. This empirically and theoretically grounded book provides insights into the ascendance of powers such as Turkey, South Korea and Indonesia and their relationship with Africa. Leading scholars present case studies from the BRICS and beyond to demonstrate the constantly evolving and complex character of these ties and their place in the global capitalist order. They also offer new theoretical insights as well as theorisation of the spatio-temporal dynamics involved in processes of accumulation within the African space. Their contention is that despite their supposed anti-imperialism, these emerging powers have become agents for continued uneven development. This innovative edited collection will appeal to students and scholars of international relations, political science, development studies, area studies, geography and economics. Girija, Nandini K., Parvathi M S, 2021-11-22. Plant Physiology is a dynamic science which goes on adding knowledge to already characterized basic processes in plants. The past decade has witnessed an unprecedented progress in biological sciences with the advent of innovative technologies viz. recombinant DNA techniques, omics approaches and advanced phenotyping platforms. These tools have helped to redefine many of the already accepted facts of plant life The present publication will give an insight into the lesser known signals that can influence plant growth and development Knowledge of plant physiological processes provides the base for research in cognate disciplines such as crop improvement crop production and crop protection With the impetus for clean cultivation information provided in the book can motivate researchers in developing environment friendly and non chemical means of improving crop production and activate the innate ability of the plant to enhance their field performance Note T F does not sell or distribute the hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka This title is co published with NIPA

Crop Production and Global Environmental Issues Khalid Rehman Hakeem,2015-12-08 Meeting the world s food security challenge will require a multi national collaborative effort to integrate the best research from science engineering and socioeconomics so that technological advances can bring benefits where they are most needed The present book covers the effect of major environmental problems on crop production and how to cope with these issues for sustainable agriculture and improvements of crops The world s population is predicted to hit 9 6 Billion by 2050 up from today s total of nearly 7 3 Billion and with it food demand is predicted to increase substantially The post war second agricultural revolution in developed countries and the green revolution in developing nations in the mid 1960s converted agricultural practices and elevated crop yields spectacularly but the outcome is levelling off and will not meet projected demand Simultaneously crop production is affected by many other factors including industrial pollution overuse of fertilizers and insecticides heavy metal and radiation stresses etc It has been noted that many pests are becoming resistant to insecticides Estimates vary but around 25% of crops can be lost to pests and diseases Climate change associated with agriculture is also a global issue Agriculture is a significant contributor to greenhouse gases and is estimated to account for 10 12% of total greenhouse gas GHG emissions Many of the issues highlighted are global problems and are addressed thoroughly in this work The Parliamentary Debates (official Report). Water Stress and Crop Plants Parvaiz Ahmad, 2016-06-08 Plants are subjected to a variety of abiotic stresses such as drought temperature salinity air pollution heavy metals UV radiations etc To survive under these harsh conditions plants are equipped with different resistance mechanisms which vary from species to species Due to the environmental fluctuations agricultural and horticultural crops are often exposed to different environmental stresses leading to decreased yield and problems in the growth and development of the crops Drought stress has been found to decrease the yield to an alarming rate of some important crops throughout the globe During last few decades lots of physiological and molecular works have been conducted under water stress in crop plants

Water Stress and Crop Plants A Sustainable Approach presents an up to date in depth coverage of drought and flooding stress in plants including the types causes and consequences on plant growth and development It discusses the physiobiochemical molecular and omic approaches and responses of crop plants towards water stress Topics include nutritional stress oxidative stress hormonal regulation transgenic approaches mitigation of water stress approaches to sustainability and modern tools and techniques to alleviate the water stress on crop yields This practical book offers pragmatic guidance for scientists and researchers in plant biology and agribusinesses and biotechnology companies dealing with agronomy and environment to mitigate the negative effects of stress and improve yield under stress The broad coverage also makes this a valuable guide enabling students to understand the physiological biochemical and molecular mechanisms of environmental stress in plants
