Panic City Martin J. Murray, 2020-03-10 Despite the end of white minority rule and the transition to parliamentary democracy Johannesburg remains haunted by its tortured history of racial segregation and burdened by enduring inequalities in income opportunities for stable work and access to decent housing Under these circumstances Johannesburg has become one of the most dangerous cities in the world where the yawning gap between the haves and have nots has fueled a turn toward redistribution through crime While wealthy residents have retreated into heavily fortified gated communities and upscale security estates the less affluent have sought refuge in retrofitting their private homes into safe houses closing off public streets and hiring the services of private security companies to protect their suburban neighborhoods Panic City is an exploration of urban fear and its impact on the city's evolving siege architecture the transformation of policing and obsession with security that has fueled unprecedented private consumption of protection services Martin Murray analyzes the symbiotic relationship between public law enforcement agencies private security companies and neighborhood associations wherein buyers and sellers of security have reinvented ways of maintaining outdated segregation practices that define the urban poor as suspects

Policing and Public Management Kevin Morrell, Ben Bradford, 2018-07-17 Policing and Public Management takes a new perspective on the challenges and problems facing the governance of police forces across the UK and the developed world Complementing existing texts in criminology and police studies Morrell and Bradford draw on ideas from the neighbouring fields of public management and virtue ethics to open the field up to a broader audience This forms the basis for an imaginative reframing of policing as something that either enhances or diminishes the public good in society. The text focuses on two cross cutting aspects of the relationship between the police and the public: public confidence and public order. Extending award winning work in public management and drawing on extensive and varied data sources, Policing and Public Management offers new ways of seeing the police and of understanding police governance. This text will be valuable supplementary reading for students of public management, policing and criminology as well as others who want to be better informed about contemporary policing.

Decentralization and Constitutionalism in Africa Charles M. Fombad, Nico Steytler, 2019-09-10. This collection of essays assesses the efforts of African governments to constitutionalise decentralisation, be it in the form of federalism, local government or traditional authorities. Since the end of the Cold War, jurisdictions across Africa have witnessed an ostensible return to multi party democracy within the paradigm of constitutionalism and the rule of law. Linked to the democratisation process, many countries took steps to decentralize power by departing from the heavily centralized systems inherited from colonial regimes. The centralization of power, typically characterized by the personalization and concentration of power in the hands of leaders and privileged elites in capital cities, mostly resulted in repressive regimes and fragile states. As decentralisation is a response to these challenges, this volume analyses the dynamic relationship between the efforts to implement decentralization and the presence or absence of constitutionalism. This volume examines a variety of forms and degrees of decentralization found across Africa. It advances a new understanding of trends and patterns and facilitates the exchange of ideas among African governments and scholars about the critical role that decentralisation may play in democratization and constitutionalism in Africa. Governance in Nigeria post-1999: Revisiting the democratic 'new dawn' of the Fourth Republic Edited by Romola Adeola & Ademola Oluborode Jegede, 2020-03-06. At the start of Nigeria's Fourth Republic on 29 May 1999, there was great optimism as to the emergence of a new democratic future representing a significant break from the political undulations of the past. Two decades and four presidential epochs later, there is a prevalent question as to how well Nigeria has fared in governance and human rights post 1999. This book revisits the democratic new dawn of the Fourth Republic, discussing pertinent matters integral to Nigeria's democratic future post 2019.

Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa Hangwelani H. Magidimisha-Chipungu, Lovemore Chipungu, 2021-09-28. This book's point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society: women, children, and the aging; the minority clusters, i.e. the blind, the disabled, and migrants. In addition, it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences, a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests. The focus on spatial inequality has, for a long time, blinded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book s enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region The Infrastructures of Security Martin Murray,2022-08-15 The shift from dependence upon human decision making in security services to Artificial Intelligence Policing and Crime Control in Post-apartheid South Africa Anne-Marie Singh,2016-04-22 Once a marginal political issue crime control now occupies a central place on the social political and economic agenda of contemporary liberal democracies Nowhere more so than in post apartheid South Africa where the transition from apartheid rule to democratic rule was marked by a shift in concern from political to criminal violence In this book Anne Marie Singh offers a comprehensive account of policing transformations in post apartheid South Africa Her analysis of crime and mechanisms for its control is linked to an analysis of neo liberal policies providing the basis for a critique of existing analyses of liberal democratic governance Themes addressed in the book include the exercise of coercive authority state and non state expertise in policing the rationally choosing criminal and the importance of developing an active and responsible citizenship

Delivering an Elusive Dream of Democracy Joleen Steyn Kotze,2018-09-07 This book analyses the decline of the ANC in Nelson Mandela Bay the economic hub of the Eastern Cape also known as the party s heartland Over the course of last twenty four years party dominant dilemmas have plagued the ANC in the Nelson Mandela Bay This includes corruption political factionalism blurring the line between party and state as well as engaging in spoils politics While this metro had encapsulated the Dream of 94 since the inception of democracy in South Africa weak quality of governance lack of political efficacy and mediocre if not anorexic service delivery effectively led to the ANC losing this symbolically important metropolitan municipality With the loss of Nelson Mandela Bay voters effectively demonstrated that they are no longer willing to accept the liberation narrative and elusive promise of a better tomorrow The ANC can no longer rely on the political capital of the liberation struggle in securing and maintaining its electorally dominant position The loss of Nelson Mandela Bay coupled with Johannesburg and Tshwane could potentially signal the end of ANC electoral dominance The author tracks the electoral decline of the ANC and analyses the dynamics that impact on its ability to potentially sustain its political and electoral dominant position in future elections Stopping the Spies Jane Duncan,2018-06-01 Is South Africa on its way to becoming a surveillance state and will it need a whistleblower In 2013 former National Security Agency NSA contractor Edward Snowden leaked secret documents revealing that state agencies like the NSA had spied on the communications of millions of innocent citizens International outrage resulted but the Snowden documents revealed only the tip of the surveillance iceberg Apart from insisting on their rights to tap into communications more and more states are placing citizens under surveillance tracking their movements and transactions with public and private institutions The state is becoming like a one way mirror where it can see more of what its citizens do and say while citizens see less and less of what the state does owing to high levels of secrecy around surveillance In this book Jane Duncan assesses the relevance of Snowden's revelations for South Africa In doing so she questions the extent to which South Africa is becoming a surveillance society governed by a surveillance state Duncan challenges members of civil society to be concerned about and to act on the ever expanding surveillance capacities of the South African state Is surveillance used for the democratic purpose of making people safer or is it being used for the repressive purpose of social control especially of those considered to be politically threatening to ruling interests She explores the forms of collective action needed to ensure that unaccountable surveillance does not take place and examines what does and does not work when it comes to developing organised responses

Interrogating Xenophobia and Nativism in Twenty-First-Century Africa Emmanuel Matambo, 2022-03-30

Interrogating Xenophobia and Nativism in Twenty First Century Africa interrogates xenophobia and nativism in Africa and how they hamper the realisation of Pan Africanism The contributors examine migration in Africa immigration policies and politics and the social impacts and history of xenophobia and nativism in African life and culture Through their analyses the contributors explore how xenophobia and nativism have impacted the Pan Africanism movement The book also offers suggestions for reducing xenophobia and nativism in Africa including bettering immigration policies and creating socioeconomic structures that would enrich the public and help prevent the pervasive belief that immigrants usurp limited opportunities for the poor in the countries they immigrate to

Evolving Public Space in South Africa Karina Landman, 2018-11-09 Evolving Public Space in South Africa discusses the transformation of public space highlighted in the country Drawing on examples from major cities the author demonstrates that these spaces are not only becoming wasted space but are also adapting and evolving to accommodate new users and uses in various parts of the city This process of evolution tends to challenge the more traditional visions and general global views of declining public space in cities and argues that it rather resembles the resilience of these spaces and the potential for regeneration through continuously emerging and mutating forms functions and meanings Including over 20 black and white images this book would be beneficial to academics and students of urban planning and design and those interested in the regeneration of cities

Local Officials and the Struggle to Transform Cities Claire Bénit-Gbaffou, 2024-02-27 Why are even progressive local authorities with the will to improve seldom able to change cities Why does it seem almost impossible to redress spatial inequalities deliver and maintain basic services elevate impoverished areas and protect the marginalised communities Why do municipalities in the Global South refuse to work with prevailing social informalities and resort instead to interventions that are known to displace and aggravate the very issues they aim to address Local Officials and the Struggle to Transform Cities analyses these challenges in South African cities where the brief post apartheid moment opened a window for progressive city government and made research into state practices both possible and necessary In debate with other progressive moments in large cities in Brazil the USA and India the book interrogates City officials practices It considers the instruments they invent and negotiate to implement urban policies the agency they develop and the constraints they navigate in governing unequal cities This focus on actual officials practices is captured through first hand experience state ethnographies and engaged research These reveal day to day practice that question generalised explanations of state failure in complex urban societies as essential malevolence contextual weakness corruption and inefficiency It is hoped that opening the black box of the workings of state opens paths for the construction of progressive policies in contemporary cities
