Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language Noah Webster,1913 The Lies of the Land Steven Conn,2024-05-31 A piercing unsentimental history that boldly challenges the idea of a rural American crisis The New Yorker It seems everyone has an opinion about rural America Is it gripped in a tragic decline Or is it on the cusp of a glorious revival Is it the key to understanding America today Steven Conn argues that we re missing the real question Is rural America even a thing No says Conn who believes we see only what we want to see in the lands beyond the suburbs fantasies about moral or backward communities simpler or repressive living and what it means to be authentically or wrongheadedly American If we want to build a better future Conn argues we must accept that these visions don t exist and never did In The Lies of the Land Conn shows that rural America so often characterized as in crisis or in danger of being left behind has actually been at the center of modern American history shaped by the same forces as everywhere else in the country militarization industrialization corporatization and suburbanization Examining each of these forces in turn Conn invites us to dispense with the lies and half truths we ve believed about rural America and to pursue better solutions to the very real challenges shared all across our nation How does a land tell lies Conn s premise is that our enduring image of rural America is in large part illusory also since most people in America about 75% now live in urban areas he theorizes our perception of rural life gets distorted by idealistic visions which don t correspond to reality Dayton Daily News The Excavations at Mut al-Kharab II Richard J. Long,2021-12-03 For over a century our knowledge of Egypt s Western Desert during the Third Intermediate Period relied almost entirely on the Greater and Smaller Dakhleh Stelae These two significant documents were purchased by Henry Lyons in 1894 in Dakhleh Oasis and indicated the existence of a substantial temple at

Mut al Kharab dedicated to the god Seth Apart from these sources very little information from the Western Desert could be dated to this period Excavations at Mut al Kharab began in 2000 and in recent years evidence from the Third Intermediate Period temple has grown considerably A range of artefacts has been unearthed including decorated temple blocks stelae ostraka in situ architectural remains other small finds and a large collection of well dated ceramics The scale of evidence suggests Mut al Kharab was probably the most significant Third Intermediate Period site in the Western Desert In light of this new material a re examination of activity in the Western Desert during this period has been possible This volume presents all the available evidence relating to the western oases during the Third Intermediate Period with a particular focus on the ceramics Occupation appears to have been more widespread than the limited evidence previously suggested and these oasis communities were closely connected to the populations in the Nile Valley The Egyptian central administration continued to be interested in the Western Desert although political control does not seem to have been consistent Moreover subtle yet distinct variations in the material record including aspects of pottery traditions and religious practices may reveal the existence of an oasis culture As such we are developing a much clearer picture of activity in this region
