

Chapter 1

- 1
 - a) Diagram should show each part of a plant cell and its function, e.g. cell wall (maintains shape of cell), cell membrane (controls entry and exit of substances), cytoplasm (where metabolism/reactions take place), vacuole (stores dissolved substances), nucleus (controls activities of cell), chloroplasts (photosynthesis), mitochondria (respiration).
 - b) An animal cell lacks a cell wall, a large permanent vacuole and chloroplasts.
- 2 Description, in words or diagrams, should include the following points:
 - enzymes are biological catalysts
 - they speed up reactions in cells without being used up
 - each enzyme catalyses a different reaction
 - the production of enzymes is controlled by genes
 - enzymes are made of protein
 - the substrate attaches to the enzyme at the active site
 - the substrate fits into the active site like a key in a lock
 - this allows the products to be formed more easily
 - intracellular enzymes catalyse reactions inside cells
 - extracellular enzymes are secreted out of cells (e.g. digestive enzymes)
 - they are affected by changes in pH and temperature.
- 3
 - a) About 75 °C.
 - b) At 60 °C the molecules of enzyme and substrate have more kinetic energy and move around more quickly. There are more frequent collisions between enzyme and substrate molecules, so more reactions are likely to take place.
 - c) The microorganism lives at high temperatures, so it needs 'heat-resistant' enzymes with a high optimum temperature.
 - d) It is denatured.
- 4 Diffusion is the net movement of particles (molecules or ions) from a high to low concentration. It does not need energy from respiration. Active transport uses energy from respiration to transport particles against a concentration gradient.
- 5 The function of the motor neurone is to send nerve impulses to muscles and glands. It has a long axon which conducts these impulses. It has a cell body with many extensions called dendrons and dendrites, which link with other neurones at synapses. At the other end of the neurone, the axon branches and forms connections with muscle fibres, called nerve-muscle junctions.

The palisade cell's function is photosynthesis. Palisade cells are near the top surface of the leaf, where they are close to the sunlight. They have thin cell walls, so the light can easily reach the many chloroplasts that the cell contains.
- 6
 - a) They carry out most of the reactions of respiration in the cell, providing it with energy.
 - b) Active transport. This uses the energy from the mitochondria.
 - c) Diffusion. The removal of glucose at A lowers the concentration inside the cell, so that the concentration at B is higher than inside the cell. Therefore glucose can diffuse down a concentration gradient.
 - d) Increases the surface area for greater absorption.

Pearson Education Biology Workbook Answers Ch 1:

Biology Neil A. Campbell, Jane B. Reece, 2005 Neil Campbell and Jane Reece's BIOLOGY remains unsurpassed as the most successful majors biology textbook in the world. This text has invited more than 4 million students into the study of this dynamic and essential discipline. The authors have restructured each chapter around a conceptual framework of five or six big ideas. An Overview draws students in and sets the stage for the rest of the chapter; each numbered Concept Head announces the beginning of a new concept; and Concept Check questions at the end of each chapter encourage students to assess their mastery of a given concept. New Inquiry Figures focus students on the experimental process, and new Research Method Figures illustrate important techniques in biology. Each chapter ends with a Scientific Inquiry Question that asks students to apply scientific investigation skills to the content of the chapter. Sif Biology Ol Tb, 2007 Sif Biology Nl Therory Wb, 2007 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003-04 Living Smart Home Econ S2 Wb N(t), 2009

Historical Foundations of Educational Psychology John A. Glover, Royce R. Ronning, 2013-11-11 This volume represents a beginning effort to compile a history of educational psychology. The project began innocuously enough several years ago when we decided to add more material about the history of educational psychology to the undergraduate course we were teaching. What seemed like a simple task became very complex as we searched in vain for a volume dealing with the topic. We ended up drawing on various histories of psychology that devoted anywhere from a few paragraphs to several pages to the topic and on a very few articles addressing the issue. We were startled frankly by the apparent lack of interest in the history of our field and decided to attempt to compile a history ourselves. As is the case with any edited volume, the contributing authors deserve credit for its positive features. They uniformly made every effort asked of them and taught us much about educational psychology. Any errors or omissions are our responsibility alone. Whitaker's Books in Print, 1998
