Threshold Concepts in Practice Ray Land, Jan H. F. Meyer, Michael T. Flanagan, 2016-07-09 Threshold Concepts in Practice brings together fifty researchers from sixteen countries and a wide variety of disciplines to analyse their teaching practice and the learning experiences of their students through the lens of the Threshold Concepts Framework In any discipline there are certain concepts the jewels in the curriculum whose acquisition is akin to passing through a portal Learners enter new conceptual and often affective territory Previously inaccessible ways of thinking or practising come into view without which they cannot progress and which offer a transformed internal view of subject landscape or even world view These conceptual gateways are integrative exposing the previously hidden interrelatedness of ideas and are irreversible However they frequently present troublesome knowledge and are often points at which students become stuck Difficulty in understanding may leave the learner in a liminal state of transition a betwixt and between space of knowing and not knowing where understanding can approximate to a form of mimicry Learners navigating such spaces report a sense of uncertainty ambiguity paradox anxiety even chaos The liminal space may equally be one of awe and wonderment Thresholds research identifies these spaces as key transformational points crucial to the learner s development but where they can oscillate and remain for considerable periods These spaces require not only conceptual but ontological and discursive shifts This volume the fourth in a tetralogy on Threshold Concepts discusses student experiences and the curriculum interventions of their teachers in a range of disciplines and professional practices including medicine law engineering architecture and military education Cover image Detail from Eve offering the apple to Adam in the Garden of Eden and the serpent c 1520 25 Lucas Cranach the Elder 1472 1553 Bridgeman Images All rights reserved

Theory and Practice Piet Van den Bossche,Wim H. Gijssels, Richard G. Milter,2012-03-21 Core concepts in education are changing For example professional performance or expertise is not uniquely the fruit of specialist knowledge acquired at professional schools but the sum of influences exerted by a complex web of continuous learning opportunities for which an individual is well or ill prepared by their schools and their workplace The key contributory factors to professional expertise are how professional schools connect to professional practice how schools prepare graduates for continuous learning and how the workplace endorses continuous development Thus the question this volume addresses how to design learning and working environments that facilitate the integration of these three elements is at the heart of contemporary pedagogical theory The authors also ask a second vital question how do we educate learners that go on to maximize their life s learning opportunities by regulating their own ongoing learning Learning at the Crossroads of Theory and Practice argues that with the theory of learning at a crossroads this is an unprecedented opportunity for learning about learning The book sheds light on different elements of this challenge integrating theory and practice in business education generating and fully exploiting workplace learning opportunities and enriching our classrooms by coupling theoretical knowledge with the richness of real life experience
