IB World Schools Yearbook 2009 Wendy Bosberry-Scott, 2009 How Global Capital is Remaking International Education Hyejin Kim, 2019-08-14 This book offers a first look at transnational education corporations new firms that operate international schools The quiet rise of transnational education corporations or TECs has implications for education systems around the globe as corporate interests gain a greater stake in the way schools operate The story of their ascendancy links government policies in one corner of the world with profound effects in others In the past decade TECs have burst onto the international schooling scene Private firms publicly listed firms and private equity groups have transformed international education into an industry valued at over USD 30 billion Nowhere has the impact been stronger and more sudden than in Asia The top three international education firms with a presence in Asia run more than 20 schools in East and Southeast Asia with another six in India Each educates tens of thousands of students around the globe and has an annual revenue of over USD 300 million TECs offer a window onto the creation of new markets and the complex positions of governments in regulating social affairs This book helps readers to understand who these firms are what they do and how they have grown

Global Learning and International Development in the Age of Neoliberalism Stephen McCloskey, 2021-10-13 This book argues that the international development sector is in crisis which can be mostly sourced to its side stepping the dominant development question of our age the neoliberal growth paradigm It argues that this crisis can be addressed at least in part by the sector's re engagement with the radical development education process that it helped to foster and sustain for over two decades The recent safeguarding scandal is symptomatic of a sector that is becoming overly hierarchical brand conscious and disconnected from its base This book argues that many of the problems the sector is facing can be sourced to its failings in grappling with the question of neoliberalism and formulating a coherent critique of how market orthodoxy has accelerated poverty in the global North and South This book recommends re embracing the radical origins of global learning situated in the participative methodology and praxis reflection and action of Paulo Freire both as internal capacity building and external public engagement The book proposes a new development paradigm focusing on bottomup participative approaches to policy making based on the needs of those NGOs claim to represent the poor marginalised and voiceless rather than constantly following the agenda of donors and governments The recommendations made by this book will serve as an important resource for researchers and students of international development and global learning as well as to NGOs civil society activists and education practitioners looking for solutions to the problems within the sector Neoliberalism and Education Bronwen M.A. Jones, Stephen J. Ball, 2023-04-04 The ongoing neoliberalisation of education is complex varied and relentless It involves increasingly diverse material and structural changes to curriculum pedagogy and assessment and at the same time transforms how we are made up as educational subjects It rearticulates what it means to be educated This collection brings together creative and unanticipated examples of the adoption and adaptation of neoliberal practice both collective and individual These examples not only demonstrate the insidiousness of neoliberal reform but also suggest that its trajectory is uncertain and unfixed The intention is that these examples might embolden education scholars and practitioners to think differently about education This book is shaped by a reading of the processes of the neoliberalisation of education as a dispositif This heterogeneous dispositif encompasses and spans an uneven miscellaneous and evolving network of educational regimes of knowledge practice and subjectivities as well as artifacts and non human actants The papers included address different aspects or points within this complex arrangement at different levels and in different sectors of education They have been chosen to illustrate the evolving and multi faceted penetration of market thinking and practice in education and also points of deflection and dissent They also offer coverage of some of the uneven geography of neoliberalisation They consider the potential for the production of subjectivities to provide the wriggle room that can exist to refuse or subvert neoliberal identities This book will have appeal across the social sciences and specifically to those working in education The chapters included here were originally published in various Taylor Francis journals

The foundation of the first international schools of the modern era well over a century ago and their burgeoning growth over recent years provides the context in this book for a series of personal perspectives written by some of those who have been involved centrally in their development. As the schools themselves have increased not only in number and geographical distribution but also in diversity of style and ownership so have a range of complex issues arisen relating to their fundamental purposes, the curricula that they choose, what should be taught and what should be learned, the nature of their organization including leadership and management and their potential contributions in responding to a perceived global need and in influencing the promotion of international education in national systems of schools. The distinguished group of authors contributing to this volume identify the current issues surrounding the rapid evolution of international schools and likely future directions of development based on their own impressive personal and professional experience of the sector. That both comparative and international education genres are to be found in approaches taken in the various chapters means that the book will be of interest and value not only to teachers in international schools but also to those working in national schools and to researchers in colleges and universities worldwide.
