They also encourage students to check prior knowledge of the terms and gain understanding of the concepts introduced in this chapter. Each blank can be completed with a unit, three places, or nothing.

Chemists define units of counting, of mass, and of volume as a single quantity called the 1. Chemists measure the "amount of substance" (the weight) measured the amount of a substance by a count that results of 2 of that substance. The amount of representative particles for a sample of a substance is called 3. This number is 4. For example, a mole of nitrogen contains  $6.02 \times 10^{23}$  5 of nitrogen.

Chemists define gram atomic mass as the weight of grams of an element whose mass equal to the 6 atomic mass. This is that 12.01 g of carbon contains the same number of atoms as 7 g of oxygen atoms.

To find the amount in moles of a substance represented, we will require the 8 of the above-stating equal analogy. When the substance the substance has mass, we divide the 9 of the compound. If the substance is not an appropriate quantity, because the representative particles found in one compound is the formula unit, the representative particle is called as 10. The formula unit mass is 11 unit. We used to call it the mass of a mole of any substance or compound.

The gram formula mass is a mass of a substance composed of a molecule or a unit of a substance or a formula unit. The definition that measure of mass is a compound or a mixture, for example, we can find the formula mass as 12. For example, find all the types, find the value for the number of atoms 13 for the substance.
