Cultivating Creative Collaboration in Student Virtual Teams in Higher Education: Design and Climate Nemiro, Jill E.,2025-07-16 Over the last twenty years creativity has been shown to be a critical element to contemporary organizations especially as global competition the need for innovation and technological advances have intensified The rise of technological advances has produced an increase in remote work and virtual teams especially within business settings to deal with global competition and the rise of non routine work However the COVID 19 pandemic generated an even greater increase in the utilization of remote work and virtual teams not only in business but in higher education as well and it appears that this trend is not going away Thus it is crucial to teach students how to work effectively in virtual teams to prepare them for their future careers Training current employees in virtual teaming skills is also necessary as more professionals are transitioning into remote or hybrid work Cultivating Creative Collaboration in Student Virtual Teams in Higher Education Design and Climate provides an in depth understanding of how to design academic courses and business training experiences that can offer employees and college level students hands on experiences to develop virtual teamwork skills It aims to nurture students professional development by enhancing their creativity while working in virtual teams and to assist faculty in designing and implementing effective virtual team learning experiences in their courses Covering topics such as intentional team culture information sharing and setting communication norms this book is an excellent resource for educational leaders educators instructional designers technology instructors human resource HR managers business leaders professionals researchers scholars academicians and more

In Search of the Virtual Class Lalita Rajasingham,John Tiffin,2002-09-11 Shirley zips into her skin tight school uniform which on the outside looks something like a ski suit The lining of the suit in fact contains cabling that makes the suit a communication system and there are pressure pads where the suit touches skin that give a sense of touch Next she sits astride something that is a bit like a motorbike except that it has no wheels and is attached firmly to the floor Her feet fit on to something similar to a brake and accelerator and her gloved hands hold onto handlebars She shouts I'm off to school Dad Her father who is taking time out from his teleworking begins to remind her that the family are going teleshopping in the virtual city later in the day but it is too late his daughter has already donned her school helmet She is no longer in the real world of her real home she is in the virtual world of her virtual school Is this the shape of the future of education This book presents a vision of what will happen to education and training as information technology develops The argument is simple To prepare people for life in an information society they need to be taught with the technology of an information society But what shape will that take Can the classroom as we know it a communications system which has been in place for four thousand years be replaced The authors argue that through the development of telecommunications for telelearning a genuine revolution in education is in the making The book describes how through the convergence of a cluster of new technologies including virtual reality artificial intelligence nanotechnology and the superhighways of telecommunications a new educational paradigm will emerge in the form of a virtual class Teachers trainers and educators who worry about how best to prepare students for life in an ever changing world will find much inspiration in this engagingly written and jargon free book

Entrepreneurship Education and Training Programs around the World Alexandria Valerio, Brent Parton, Alicia Robb, 2014-05-06 Entrepreneurship has attracted global interest for its potential to catalyze economic and social development Research suggesting that certain entrepreneurial mindsets and skills can be learned has given rise to the field of entrepreneurship education and training EET Despite the growth of EET global knowledge about these programs and their impact remains thin In response this study surveys the available literature and program evaluations to propose a Conceptual Framework for understanding the EET program landscape The study finds that EET today consists of a heterogeneous mix of programs that can be broken into two groups entrepreneurship education and entrepreneurship training These programs target a range of participants secondary and post secondary education students as well as potential and practicing entrepreneurs The outcomes measured by program evaluations are equally diverse but generally fall under the domains of entrepreneurial mindsets and capabilities entrepreneurial status and entrepreneurial performance The dimensions of EET programs vary according the particular target group Programs targeting secondary education students focus on the development of foundational skills linked to entrepreneurship while post secondary education programs emphasize skills related to strategic business planning Programs targeting potential entrepreneurs generally are embedded within broader support programs and tend to target vulnerable populations for whom employment alternatives may be limited While programs serving practicing entrepreneurs focus on strengthening entrepreneurs knowledge skills and business practices which while unlikely to transform an enterprise in the near term may accrue benefits to entrepreneurs over time The study also offers implications for policy and program implementation emphasizing the importance of clarity about target groups and desired outcomes when making program choices and sound understanding of extent to which publicly supported programs offer a broader public good and compare favorably to policy alternatives for supporting the targeted individuals as well as the overall economic and social objectives

Fast Families, Virtual Children Ben Agger, Beth Anne Shelton, 2016-01-20 The Internet cell phones and other technologies have changed the ways in which people conduct their family lives raise children and navigate the blurry boundary between work and home Private life is colonized by employers teachers corporations family time is taken up by work homework and shopping What it means to be parents and children has changed dramatically This book shows how the nurturance of family has increasingly become a willful radical idea in an era of pervasive technology The authors analyze important trends including the acceleration and attenuation of childhood and offer a children s bill of rights and accompanying parental responsibilities Interactive

Sports Technologies Veronika Tzankova, Michael Filimowicz, 2022-06-01 Building on the unfolding and expanding embeddedness of digital technologies in all aspects of life Interactive Sports Technologies Performance Participation Safety focuses on the intersection of body movement physical awareness engineering design software and hardware to capture emerging trends for enhancing sports and athletic activities The accessible and inspiring compilation of theoretical critical and phenomenological approaches utilizes the domain of sports to extend our understanding of the nexus between somatic knowledge and human computer interaction in general Within this framework the chapters in this volume draw upon a variety of concepts processes practices and elucidative examples to bring together a timely assessment of interactive technologies potential to facilitate increased performance participation and safety in sports This collection of chapters from international authors presents diverse perspectives from a wide range of academic and practice based researchers within a comprehensive coverage of sport disciplines Womanhood and Girlhood in Twenty-First Century Middle Class

Kenya Besi Brilliant Muhonja, 2017-12-29 This study of twenty first century girlhoods and womanhoods charts a new area of scholarship on Kenya The chapters investigate questions related to how new rituals of girlhood and womanhood that materialize when religious indigenous and foreign worlds encounter each other are re structuring family and society recasting roles and informing fresh conceptualizations of African girlhood and womanhood The author s interdisciplinary analysis and writing journeys through the different stages of girlhood and womanhood as ritualized by Kenya s 21st century middle class and teases out the implications of these peculiarities to identity re creation and the restructuring of societies organs and traditionally gendered institutions Applying a critical African studies lens the arguments in this book center women as originators of action and thought without inquiring into a male other Essentially this work disrupts patri centered constructions and examinations of female bodies and identities The resulting deductions inform on the substratum of Kenyan girls and women s self definitions as manifest through their experiences and ritualized practices and articulate the impact of the performances of these bodies and identities on Kenyan and global societies
