

A photograph of a neon sign at night. The main sign is a horizontal marquee with a red neon border and a green neon outline. It displays the text 'THE WORLD IS A TEXT' on the first line, '4TH EDITION' on the second line, and 'SILVERMAN RADER' on the third line. The letters are in a stylized, blocky font. In the background, a vertical neon sign reads 'BALBOON' in yellow. The scene is illuminated by the neon lights, with a dark sky and some building details visible.

Linguistic Landscapes Jeffrey L. Kallen, 2023-06-22 Visible language is widespread and familiar in everyday life We find it in shop signs advertising billboards street and place name signs commercial logos and slogans and visual arts The field of linguistic landscapes draws on insights from sociolinguistics language policy and semiotics to show how these public forms of language relate to multiple issues in language policy language rights language and education language and culture and globalization Stretching from the earliest stone inscriptions to posters and street signs and to today's electronic media linguistic landscapes sit at the crossroads of language society geography and visual communication Written by one of the pioneers of the field this is the first book length synthesis of this exciting rapidly developing field Using photographic evidence from across three continents it demonstrates the methodology and approaches used and summarises its findings and developments so far It also seeks to answer common questions from its critics and to suggest new directions for further study

Language Discordant Social Work in a Multilingual World Hilde Fiva Buzungu, 2023-04-21 Based on ethnographic observations of encounters between social workers and people with whom they do not have a shared language this book analyzes the impact of language discordance on the quality of professional service provision Exploring how street level bureaucrats navigate the landscape of these discretionary assessments of language discordance language proficiency and the need for interpreting the book focuses on four main themes the complexity of social work talk the issue of participation in language discordant meetings communicative interaction the issue of how clarification is requested when needed and whether professionals and service users are able to reach clarity when something is unclear Based on the findings presented on these different aspects of language discordant talk the consequences of language discordance for social work are presented and discussed focusing primarily on issues at the intersection of language communication power dominance and subordination representation linguisticism and ultimately human rights and human dignity It will be of interest to all social work students academics and professionals as well as those working in public services and allied health more broadly

Aging and Adult Development in the Developing World Frank E. Eyetsemitan, James T. Gire, 2003-02-28 Most studies of human development in developing societies have focused on the childhood stage and in a few cases exploration has extended up to adolescence since this age group represents about half the population in developing societies The developed world however is experiencing a surge in the elderly population and this has spurred its study There is growing recognition that studies are needed in order to understand aging in all contexts and to discover how the experience may differ in developing and developed societies In this book the authors discuss the appropriateness or inappropriateness of applying Western theories and perspectives to studies of aging in the developing world The present study critically examines the major theories in the area of aging and adult development covering such domains as the physical psychological and social aspects of aging death and dying and social and public policies Applying the concepts of individualism and collectivism as well as the global and environmental dimensions of the developing world the authors have earmarked the theories that seem suitable only to the developed world and those that appear to be universally relevant
