Lessons for the Social Studies Classroom M. Lazarus, S. Cohen, K. Lambert, R. E,2013-03-12 The idea for this book came while I was observing a student teacher and a master teacher I realized that most student teachers while in training do not have the opportunity to think creatively about their lessons I also noticed that teachers new to the fi eld of teaching suffer the same fate they are too busy trying to survive the day and are not sure how to plan and organize their teaching Lesson plans are one of the most important tools for a teacher and more important for the novice teacher I believe that during student teaching or during their undergraduate years if students were equipped with this book their first year teaching will not look so first year Imagine an undergraduate class filled with soon to be Social Studies teachers discussing these selected lesson plans improving upon them and making them their own Most first year teachers over teach or under teach and both types still miss the marks on the standardized test These lesson plans will give the new teacher a place to begin The Well-Trained Mind Susan Wise Bauer, Jessie Wise, 2016-08-09 Is your child getting lost in the system becoming bored losing his or her natural eagerness to learn If so it may be time to take charge of your child's education by doing it yourself The Well Trained Mind will instruct you step by step on how to give your child an academically rigorous comprehensive education from preschool through high school one that will train him or her to read to think to understand to be well rounded and curious about learning Veteran home educators Susan Wise Bauer and Jessie Wise outline the classical pattern of education called the trivium which organizes learning around the maturing capacity of the child's mind and comprises three stages the elementary school grammar stage when the building blocks of information are absorbed through memorization and rules the middle school logic stage in which the student begins to think more analytically and the high school rhetoric stage where the student learns to write and speak with force and originality Using this theory as your model you'll be able to instruct your child whether full time or as a supplement to classroom education in all levels of reading writing history geography mathematics science foreign languages rhetoric logic art and music regardless of your own aptitude in those subjects Thousands of parents and teachers have already used the detailed book lists and methods described in The Well Trained Mind to create a truly superior education for the children in their care This extensively revised fourth edition contains completely updated curricula and book lists links to an entirely new set of online resources new material on teaching children with learning challenges cutting edge math and sciences recommendations answers to common questions about home education and advice on practical matters such as standardized testing working with your local school board designing a high school program preparing transcripts and applying to colleges You do have control over what and how your child learns The Well Trained Mind will give you the tools you'll need to teach your child with confidence and success Teaching Interculturality 'Otherwise' Fred Dervin, Mei Yuan, Sude, 2022-12-14 This edited volume focuses on the thorny and somewhat controversial issue of teaching and learning interculturality in a way that considers the notion from critical and reflexive perspectives when introduced to students Comprised of three parts the book discusses the nuts and bolts of teaching interculturality considers changes in the teaching of interculturality and provides pedagogical insights into interculturalising the notion It studies both teaching implicitly about interculturality and how to incorporate interculturality into teaching practices or into an institution By sharing varied cases and theoretical reflections on the topic the editors and contributors from different parts of the world

aim to stimulate more initiatives to enrich the field instead of delimiting it especially in complement to and beyond the West or Global North and also to build up further reflexivity in the way readers engage with interculturality in education This will be a must read for teachers and researchers of intercultural communication education at different educational levels as well as anyone interested in scholarship on education for interculturality Chapter 3 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons 4.0 license

The Cold War in the Classroom Barbara Christophe, Peter Gautschi, Robert Thorp, 2019-10-23 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license This book explores how the socially disputed period of the Cold War is remembered in today's history classroom Applying a diverse set of methodological strategies the authors map the dividing lines in and between memory cultures across the globe paying special attention to the impact the crisis driven age of our present has on images of the past Authors analysing educational media point to ambivalence vagueness and contradictions in textbook narratives understood to be echoes of societal and academic controversies Others focus on teachers and the history classroom showing how unresolved political issues create tensions in history education They render visible how teachers struggle to handle these challenges by pretending that what they do is just history The contributions to this book unveil how teachers backgrounding the political inherent in all memory practices often nourish the illusion that the history in which they are engaged is all about addressing the past with a reflexive and disciplined approach

Collaborative Commons Prosumers are plugging into the IoT and making and sharing their own information entertainment green energy and 3D printed products at near zero marginal cost Students are enrolling in free massive open online courses MOOCs that operate at near zero marginal cost Social entrepreneurs are even bypassing the banking establishment and using crowdfunding to finance startup businesses as well as creating alternative currencies in the fledgling sharing economy In this new world social capital is as important as financial capital access trumps ownership sustainability supersedes consumerism cooperation ousts competition and exchange value in the capitalist marketplace is increasingly replaced by sharable value on the Collaborative Commons Rifkin concludes that capitalism will remain with us albeit in an increasingly streamlined role primarily as an aggregator of network services and solutions allowing it to flourish as a powerful niche player in the coming era We are however says Rifkin entering a world beyond markets where we are learning how to live together in an increasingly interdependent global Collaborative Commons
