Instructor's Manual to Accompany Irwin Unger's These United States , the Questions of Our Past Robert Alfred Waller, 1978 Imagining Home Susan Elizabeth Farrell, 2017 War has often been seen as the domain of men and thus irrelevant to gender analysis and American writers have frequently examined war according to traditional gender expectations that boys become men by going to war and girls become women by building a home Yet the writers discussed in this book complicate these expectations since their female characters often take part directly in war and especially since their male characters repeatedly imagine domestic spaces for themselves in the midst of war Chapters on Hemingway and the First World War Kurt Vonnegut and the Second World War and Tim O'Brien and the Vietnam War place these writers in their particular historical and cultural contexts while tracing similarities in their depiction of gender relationships imagined domestic spaces and the representability of trauma The book concludes by examining post 9/11 American literature probing what happens when the front lines actually come home to Americans While much has been written about Hemingway Vonnegut O'Brien and even 9/11 literature separately this study is the first to bring them together in order to examine views about war gender and domesticity over a hundred year period It argues that 9 11 literature follows a long tradition of American writing about war in which the domestic and public realms are inextricably intertwined and in which imagined domestic spaces can provide a window into representing wartime trauma an experience often thought to be unrepresentable or incomprehensible to those who were not actually there SUSAN FARRELL is Professor of English at the College of Charleston History of Soy Nutritional Research (1990-2021) William Shurtleff; Akiko Aoyagi,2021 The world s most comprehensive well documented and well illustrated book on this subject With extensive subject and geographical index 30 photographs and illustrations mostly color Free of charge in digital PDF format
